FIFTY-SEVENTH YEAR No. 49 LINCOLN, NEB., THURSDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 27, 1958 SEVEN CENTS

—Second Jury Reverses Death Penalty—

GRANDSINGER IS FOUND INNOCENT

...Dakotan Set Free In Slaying Of Patrolman

From Press Dispatches

Rushville, Neb. — Loyd Grandsinger, once sentenced to death for slaying a State Safety Patrolman, was acquitted here Wednesday night of the fatal shooting and walked from the courtroom a free man.

An all-male district court jury found the 25-year-old Wewala, S. D., part-Indian innocent of the 1954 death of Nebraska State Trooper Marvin Hansen.

Grandsinger said he was "terrifically happy" the jury found in his favor in the retrial and immediately made plans to spend Thanksgiving with the tribal leaders of his Oglala Sioux family.

The jury returned the verdict after deliberating 7 hours.

Weeps At Verdict

Grandsinger broke down and wept when the decision was read. His father, Paul Grandsinger, also broke down and wept, and was heard to say "Thank God."

Loyd watched nervously as the jury came in and Foreman J. Springman began to read.

Judge Robert Flory told the jury "I can't say I agree with your verdict but I thank you for your services."

There were 28 spectators in the court room when the jury returned. Except for the parents of Grandsinger they all heard the verdict without audible reaction.

The jury had been told it could bring back a verdict of first degree murder, with which Grandsinger was charged; second degree murder, manslaughter or innocent.

Surprise

Courtroom observers regarded the verdict as a "terrific surprise."

Grandsinger had been convicted in 1954 for the shooting.

Grinning broadly, he expressed deep appreciation for the "great job" attorneys James Lane and John Powers, both of Ogallala, had done.

"I felt that during the trial everyone was being very fair and that includes the attorneys on both sides, the judge, the spectators and the jury," he said.

Then Debbie Diddier, relative of Loyd, chimed in with "Loyd, you want to remember the Good Lord and his hands in this."

"Yes, he was on my shoulder all the way," Loyd replied.

Lane said he was terrifically happy, too, and Powers called the verdict "a justification of the American system of procedure in the trial of persons accused of crimes."

Sheriff 'Dejected'

Cherry County Attorney Dean L. Donoho and Special Prosecutor Tom Kelley, Omaha, left the courtroom refusing to comment. Observers described them and state witness William C. Freeman, Cherry County sheriff, as "dejected."

Mrs. Ethyl Merrival, Pine Ridge, S. D., spokesman for the Indian residents of northwestern Nebraska and southwestern South Dakota, said it was the "happiest day in my life." She said she was "sure the people of Rushville were always fair."

Mrs. Merrival said Loyd and his father, Paul, would be the guests of honor at a Thanksgiving dinner at her home Thursday. She is a member of the Oglala Sioux tribal council.

Paul Grandsinger, Mrs. Merrival and Wilma Sifer, the Grandsinger housekeeper, exclaimed, "Thank God," after the verdict was read.

Complete Reversal

The decision of the jury was a complete reversal of Grandsinger's first trial in 1954. Then a Cherry County jury that deliberated 18 hours returned a verdict of guilty and set the penalty at death in the electric chair.

But this was reversed by the federal courts on grounds Loyd was not adequately represented by counsel and a new trial ordered.

LOYD GRANDSINGER . . . found innocent by second jury.

The state charged Loyd killed Hansen with a single shot from a .22 pistol after the trooper and Sheriff Buck Freeman of Valentine had halted Loyd and his brother Leon at a roadblock.

Loyd maintained he never intentionally fired at the trooper. The .22 with which the state charged Hansen was killed was never found.

The shooting occurred when Loyd ran from the car he was in, to a field in the dust and darkness of a windy night.

Grandsinger was caught the next day as he tried to hide in shallow waters of the Niobrara River.

Witnesses described him as a wet, shaking and scared man as he was hauled from the river.

In final arguments before the jury special prosecutor Kelley called for the death penalty and reminded jurors that when they were being examined he had asked them "if in a proper case you would impose the death penalty. The state submits this is a proper case."

He concluded his argument with the appeal: "Don't let this fellow kill anybody else."

'Not Guilty of Murder'

Defense attorney John J. Powers declared that Grandsinger "is guilty of burglary. He is guilty of car theft. But he is not guilty of murder."

He declared that the testimony of Cherry County Sheriff William Freeman was "tailored to fit the situation," and declared the state should have "negatived" the possibility of Freeman having fired a gun the night Patrolman Hansen was slain.

Defense Committee Members Pleased

Members of the Grandsinger Defense Committee, which had fought for the new trial for Loyd Grandsinger, were elated Wednesday night at the news that Grandsinger had been found not guilty.

"We are especially gratified that the committee interested itself in the case," said the Rev. Carroll Lemon, who served as chairman.

"The lay members of the committee particularly appreciate the great effort of the lawyers who worked on the case, and we express our appreciation to the large number of persons who contributed to the cause," the Rev. Mr. Lemon said.

Nebraskans involved are also grateful, he said, to the Association on American Indian Affairs which contributed funds and legal assistance in the appeals.

Lawyers Named

The Rev. Mr. Lemon named for commendation Caleb Foote and James Lake of the University of Nebraska Law College faculty, Eugene O'Sullivan of Omaha, who became Grandsinger's attorney after the committee was formed; Charles Flansburg, Lincoln attorney appointed by the federal court in the habeas corpus action which won the new trial, and John J. Powers and James Lane of Ogallala, court-appointed lawyers who represented Grandsinger at the trial.

The chairman also named Capt. Walter Kennedy, formerly head of the Salvation Army here and a member of the committee, for his friendship and help to Grandsinger, whom the captain often visited at the Penitentiary.

The Grandsinger committee was formed in Lincoln in April of 1956 after the Nebraska Supreme Court had affirmed Grandsinger's conviction. The committee, taking no position on the South Dakotan's guilt or innocence, said it thought Grandsinger's first trial had not been fair and proceeded to raise funds and obtain attorneys to appeal the case.

The case was then taken to the state supreme Court again on a motion for a rehearing, which was refused, and then appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, which declined to hear the case.

Next move came with the filing of an action in Federal District Court in Lincoln for a writ of habeas corpus. Federal District Judge John Delehant delayed execution and lengthy hearings were held here before the judge ruled June 27, 1957, that Grandsinger had been deprived of the constitutional right to effective counsel in the first trial and must be retried or set free.

The judge's ruling turned on an incident in the courtroom just before final arguments in which the defense attorney admitted tampering with the evidence. That this was presented to the jury, Judge Delehant ruled in effect, made the defense attorney's final argument less effective and therefore deprived Grandsinger of his rights.

Judge Delehant in his opinion called the trial an example of "legal lynching."

Three Holidays Figured In Case

Three holiday seasons figured prominently in the Loyd Grandsinger case.

The State Supreme Court, after hearing his appeal, set the death for March 30, 1956 —Good Friday. The execution was stayed only a few days before that to allow further appeal.

After the U.S. Supreme Court had declined to hear the case, the death date was set for Dec. 28, between Christmas and New Year's Day. On Dec. 12 execution was stayed to allow the Federal district court habeas corpus action.

And it was Thanksgiving eve when the second jury acquitted Grandsinger of the murder charge.

Dulles' Words Dismay Allies

West Alarmed Over Hint Of Possible Dealing With East Germany

Berl —Surprise and dismay spread through Allied and West Berlin circles Wednesday night at Secretary of State Dulles' statement that the West might deal with East Germany in a Berlin showdown.

The bombshell hit the isolated old German capital shortly after it was disclosed Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko had visited East Berlin. Official Soviet sources said he gave the green light for Communist officials to make ready for a Soviet withdrawal from East Berlin.

Officials showed little reluctance to exhibit their private consternation at Dulles' remarks.

The feeling was that Dulles' statement — despite its qualifications—gave away a bargaining counter before the Russians even showed their hand.

Western officials have never ruled out the possibility of limited contacts with the East Germans on the 100-mile rail and highway link to West Germany. But it was indicated that this would be a concession of last resort.

Over the past 2 days Allied officials gave the impression that the Western powers might resort to an airlift rather than yield to even limited dealings with the Communists.

And shortly before Dulles' news conference in Washington, London declared the Big 3 were united and determined to stick to Berlin and preserve routes into the city. Similar comment came from the French.

By John Scali

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles served notice Wednesday that the Western Big 3 intend to use all air, land and water routes to Berlin even if East German Reds try to block them.

At a news conference, he implied military force might be used, if necessary, to back up the Western view that Russia has guaranteed them unimpeded access to the Communist-surrounded city.

THANKSGIVING TO BE WEE BIT WARMER

Winter will take a little bit of a Thanksgiving break Thursday, according to the Weather Bureau.

Temperatures over the state are expected to range from 25 to 35 degrees, slightly warmer than Wednesday's wintry chill.

However, weathermen say there will be considerable cloudiness with the chance of light scattered snow in the west and central portions in the afternoon or evening.

The mercury dipped to a frigid low of 2 degrees at Chadron Wednesday, and a chilly 6 at North Platte. The state high was recorded at Scottsbluff with 30 degrees.

Lincoln shivered under a 15 degree low Wednesday, and recorded a high of 25.

NU Asks $34,548,397 In Biennium Budget

. . . Increase Of $6.5 Million Over '57-'59

By Betty Person

The University of Nebraska has submitted a total budget request for the 1959-61 biennium of $34,548,397, an increase of $6,509,116 over the amount appropriated for 1957-59, with $5,894,160 of the increase slated to come from state property tax funds.

The remaining $614,956 increase would come from estimated increases in federal funds, student fees and such items, not state tax funds.

The majority of the increase would go toward salaries, teaching, research and public service programs planned for all divisions of the University.

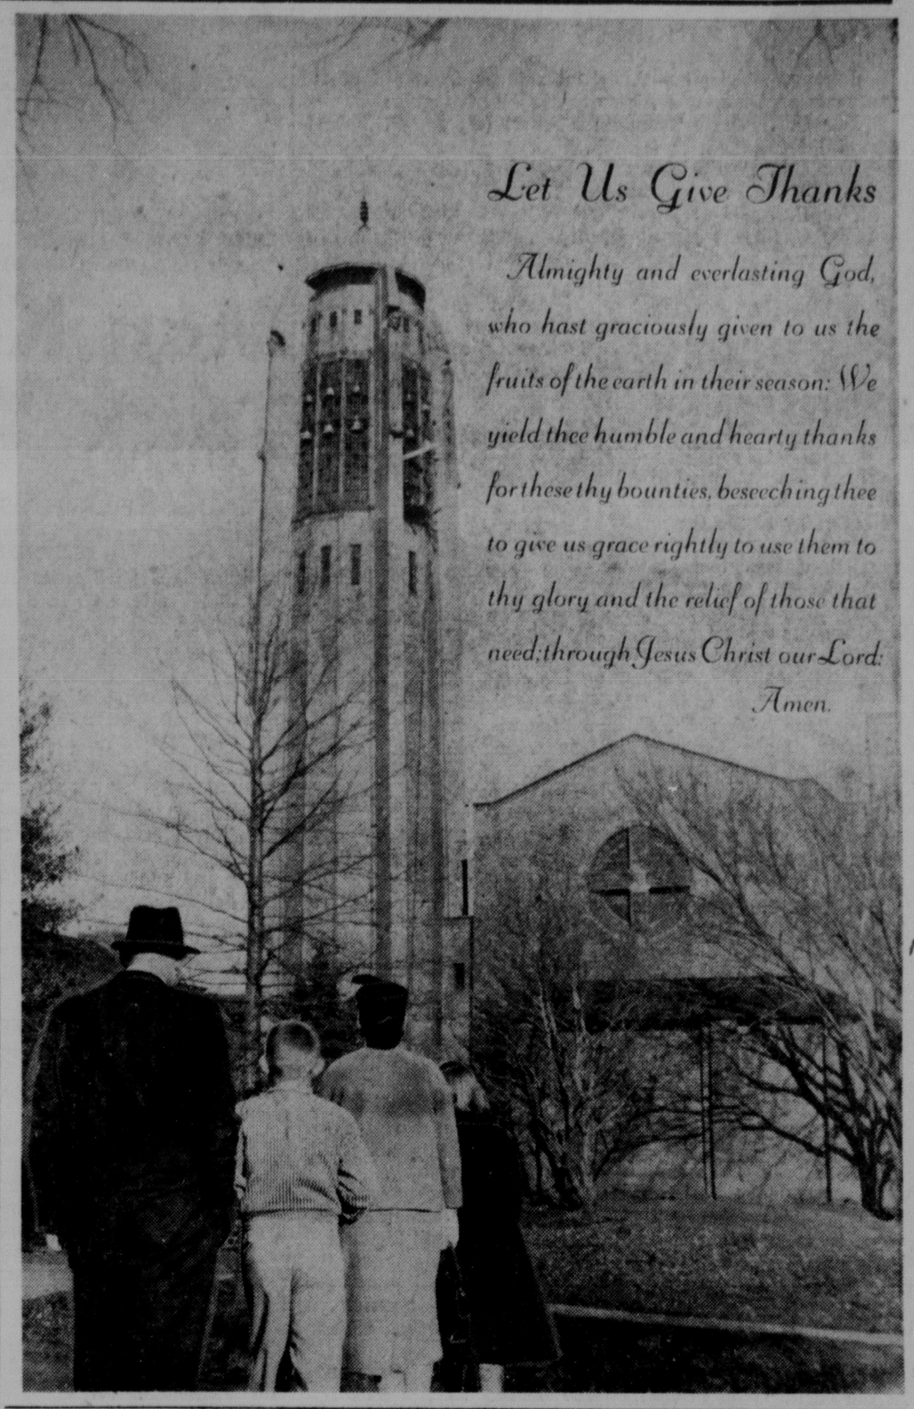

3 Budget Forms

University officials noted that this year, for the first time, the Tax Commissioner's office has requested state agencies to prepare a total of 3 budget forms: a "continuation" budget outlining requests to maintain the present level of service; an "expansion" budget outlining proposed additions to present service such as new programs, additional personnel, new equipment and such items, and a "summary" budget showing the total for the both continuing and expanded programs.

Under its "continuation" budget, the University said it would need $32,929,937, representing an increase of $4,275,700 in state property tax funds.

In a breakdown of the 6 supporting funds for the continuation budget of $32,929,937, the University listed these sources: $25,275,700

WESTERN VICTORY URGED BY NIXON

Freedom Over Tyranny Goal Asked By V.P.

London (AP)—Vice President Nixon urged Wednesday night that the West adopt as its No. 1 goal "the victory of plenty over want, of health over disease, of freedom over tyranny."

"Let us speak less of the threat of Communism and more of the promise of freedom," he said in a speech at a British-American banquet in London's ancient Guildhall.

Prime Minister Macmillan and Prince Philip, the husband of Queen Elizabeth II, sat among the dinner guests as Nixon reviewed 20th Century ideals and aims of the United States and Britain.

He touched on a forecast by Premier Nikita Khrushchev that the Soviet Union will outstrip the western powers in the battle for better standards of living.

"If Mr. Khrushchev wishes to consider these steps as a form of competition or contest, I am sure all of us would be delighted to accept the challenge," Nixon said. "In such a contest, no one could really lose.

"The world would be infinitely better off if man's energies were used for the welfare of families rather than the building of armies."

Crowded Day

The banquet, held by the English Speaking Union, capped a crowded 2nd day of Nixon's 4-day visit to Britain.

He was at the House of Commons in the morning for another quick session of getting acquainted talks with British government leaders.

After that came a hurried ride to join Queen Elizabeth in a ceremony dedicating a new American chapel at St. Paul's Cathedral as a memorial to the 28,000 Americans killed in operations here and from British bases in World War II.

The Queen brought Vice President and Mrs. Nixon to lunch with her at Buckingham Palace.

As dusk fell, Nixon went in bleak and rainy weather to a stately mansion near Hyde Park to pay a surprise call on Sir Winston Churchill. He and the British elder statesman, who will be 84 Sunday, talked for 24 minutes — and Nixon came out with word that he expects Churchill to visit Washington next May as guest of President Eisenhower.

'Strato' Balloon Fizzles

Flight For Mars Look Stalled

Rapid City, S.D. (AP)—A towering plastic balloon, being readied for a manned stratosphere flight, ruptured and collapsed Wednesday at the strato-bowl launching site near here.

The balloon was to have carried an astronomer and a Navy pilot 16 miles into the sky for a telescopic look at Mars' atmosphere.

But at 4 p.m. (MST), there was a crackling and hissing noise from the top of the 200-foot bag, and the balloon settled back to the bottom of the deep pit.

Navy officials said they had another balloon and sufficient helium for another try Thursday.

Cargo Chute

Hundreds of spectators lined the rim of the strato-bowl, a natural depression in the Black Hills as the balloon was being inflated.

Technicians began attaching a huge cargo parachute to the bottom of the balloon when the plastic ruptured.

Dr. John Strong, 53-year-old Johns Hopkins University astrophycisists, and Navy Cmdr. Malcolm Ross, already were inside their aluminum gondola when the balloon broke.

Dressed in pressure suits and space helmets, Strong and Ross had been inside the sealed, gadget-filled gondola about 15 minutes when it happened.

Not Attached

The gondola was on a truck and was not attached to the parachute or the balloon. The balloon was attached to the front bumper of a big truck to hold it down until launching time.

Cmdr. Rick Mumford, technical information officer for the project, said it was not known why the balloon ruptured. The temperature, however, was a frigid 8 degrees above zero at the time.

Strong and Ross had planned to take spectrographic pictures of Mars to learn the water vapor content of that planet's atmosphere.

Demos Make Clean Sweep

. . . GOP Suffers Shutout In Alaska

Juneau, Alaska (AP)—Unofficial returns from 213 of 287 precincts in Tuesday's Alaska state election give:

For U.S. Senate Term A: Bartlett (D) 29,888, Robertson (R) 5,405, Capper (I) 414.

For U.S. Senate Term B: Gruening (D) 19,017, Stepovich (R) 17,084.

For U.S. House: Rivers (D) 20,167, Benson (R) 16,263.

For Governor: Egan (D) 21,565, Butrovich (R) 12,553, Dollinter (I) 302.

Juneau, Alaska (AP) —Democrats made a clean sweep Wednesday of every major national and state race in Alaska's first election as the 49th state.

They captured the 2 U.S. Senate seats, the single congressional seat and the governorship.

Democrats completed their massive landslide of Tuesday's election by gaining overwhelming control of the 60-member first Alaska State Legislature.

Former Gov. Ernest Gruening eliminated the Republicans' last chance to prevent a shutout when he took an insurmountable lead over ex-Gov. Mike Stepovich in the battle for one of the U.S. Senate seats.

Stepovich, 39, did not concede immediately. He said in Fairbanks he would study the situation before making a statement.

The 107 unreported precincts were in Anchorage and Fairbanks, where Democrats are strong, and in remote outposts where the scattered vote could not affect the outcome.

In Anchorage, Gruening credited vigorous campaigning and a united Democratic effort for his victory.

"I am extremely grateful to my fellow candidates for both statewide and legislative offices who campaigned for me while campaigning for themselves—and through a united party achieved victory for all."

The 71-year-old Gruening, who served as Alaska's appointive governor more than 13 years, had tripled Stepovich by 5,700 votes in Alaska's statehood referendum in August.

But he waged a hard campaign and it was felt before the election that he had closed the gap.

Gruening said the recent 2-week visit to the territory by Secretary of the Interior Seaton, campaigning for Republican candidates, was "very helpful to the Democrats."

He noted Seaton "made a big campaign effort" at Barrow but the Gruening margin there over Stepovich was even greater than in August.

"And I didn't even visit Barrow," Gruening said.

3 HONORED FOR PART IN DEFENSE

"I can hardly believe it." Those were the words of Dr. Paul Meadows, professor of sociology at the University of Nebraska, upon being informed of the innocent verdict handed down by a jury in the Loyd Grandsinger second murder trial.

Meadows, along with Dr. James Reinhardt, professor of criminology at the University and Caleb Foote, formerly of the University's law college faculty and now of the University of Pennsylvania, was a member of a committee instrumental in gaining Grandsinger a new trial.

The 3, all Unitarians, were honored by the Unitarian fellowship for Social Justice for helping get a new trial for a convicted slayer on the ground his rights were abridged.

"Needless to say," Dr. Meadows continued, "I'm sure the members of the committee are very gratified.

This is wonderful, he added.

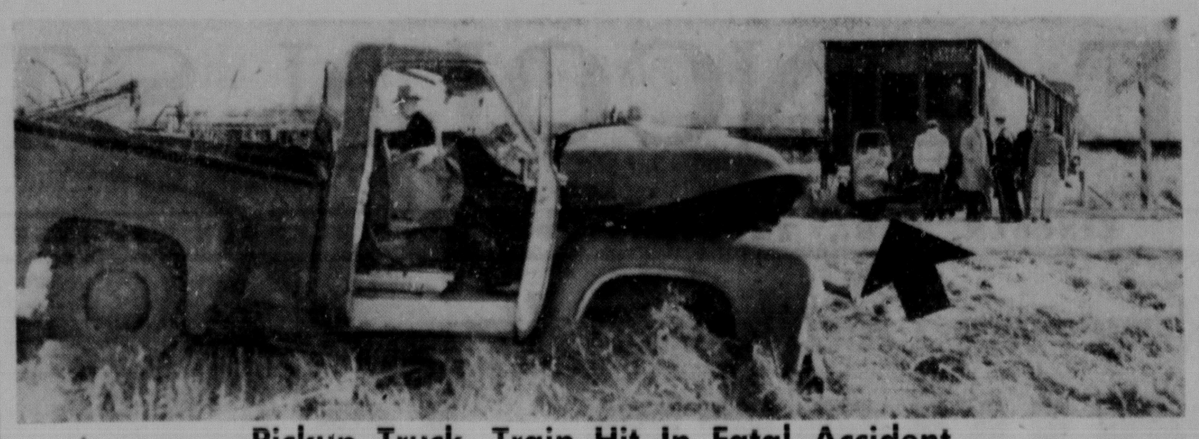

Dr. Reinhardt said that "I'm not too surprised." He went on to add that "apparently he (Grandsinger) got a fair trial."

The noted criminologist pointed out that the second trial was removed of the emotion and excitement present at the earlier trial in 1954.

"I was not exercising any judgment on the court's decision," Dr. Reinhardt pointed out. "I was only interested in his having a fair trial."

Foote, contacted by the Star at his home in Swarthmore, Pa., commented that "this is a vindication of the American principle of justice and of the procedure which allows full adjudication of cases in the federal courts."

He noted that there had been a great deal of criticism of federal court review of state criminal cases, and said, "this seems to me a shining example of the necessity for this emergency type of procedure for dealing with unusual cases."

Pickup Truck, Train Hit In Fatal Accident

Clifford Ralph Gerdes Jr. of Rt. 1, Malcolm, was killed Wednesday afternoon when the pickup truck he was driving (shown above) was in collision with a 4-car switch train at 63rd and Cornhusker. The door of Gerdes' truck (see arrow) was impaled on the coupling of the train's front car which the truck struck. (Star Photo)

Man Killed As Truck, Train Hit

. . . C. R. Gerdes Jr., Malcolm, Dies

By Del Harding

Clifford Ralph Gerdes Jr. of Rt. 1, Malcolm, was killed Wednesday afternoon in a truck-train accident at 63rd and Cornhusker.

The pickup truck he was driving was in collision with the front coupling of one of 3 ballast cars being pushed by a Burlington switch engine across a spur crossing on Cornhusker about 1:15 p.m.

Gerdes, 25, recently moved to the farm (located about 2 miles east of Malcolm) from a Lincoln address of 6518 Frances.

Gerdes' westbound truck was pushed 42 feet along the tracks by the northbound train.

The cab of the truck was demolished, and Gerdes was pinned in the wreckage. A wrecker was used to free his body.

The Safety Patrol said Gerdes lived for about 5 minutes after the accident but died before an ambulance arrived. The lower part of his body was crushed and his left leg was severed above the ankle.

Train 10 mph

The engineer of the switch engine was identified as William Proplesch, 66, of 1729 K. He estimated his speed at about 10 mph at the time the collision occurred.

No estimate of the truck's speed was available.

Switchman D. D. Way of 3010 Shirley Ct. was riding in the front car and saw the truck approach. He told police he waved his arms in a vain attempt to warn the driver, who apparently did not see the train until immediately before the impact.

Police said they could find no skid marks left by the truck, which was owned by Capital Tire Co. of 830 M, Gerdes' employer.

Inside City Limits

Cornhusker Highway from 59th to 73rd is inside the city limits and technically should be covered by Lincoln's maximum speed limit of 35 mph. But police do not enforce the limit in the area and the impression given by signs nearby is that the stretch is open highway—a 65 mph daytime limit.

Gerdes' death is the fifth traffic fatality on police records for Lincoln this year. Only last Friday a retired school teacher, Miss Ruth Hutchins of 5203 Cleveland, was killed in a 3-car accident at 25th and R.

Dep. Co. Atty. Paul Douglas said there will be no inquest into Gerdes' death.

Gerdes is survived by his wife, Nan; son, Donald Paul; daughters, Donna Pauline and Patricia Jolene; sisters, Mrs. Tom Denniston and Mrs. Roland Bauhke, both of Nebraska City; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford R. Gerdes Sr., also of Nebraska City; grandfather, John Gerdes of Craig, Mo.; and grandmother, Mrs. James Gilliland of Falls City.

His death boosts the state traffic death toll to 307, compared with 263 at this time last year.

Elderly Couple Hurt In Crash

An elderly Lincoln couple was hurt Wednesday evening in a crash at 27th and R involving their car and a truck.

Bertha G. Everts, 72, of 615 No. 23rd was admitted to St. Elizabeth's with multiple bruises to her head, arm and hip. Ted G. Everts, 70, of the same address, driver of the car, was treated for minor cuts and released.

Driver of the truck was Herzz Wajsman, 40, of 2522 Sumner, police said.

POLICE CATCH YEGG IN ACT; HE'S ESCAPEE

Police scored a double victory Wednesday evening when two officers arrested a burglar at 311 So. 21st who turned out to be an escapee wanted by Colorado authorities.

Cruiser officer Delmar Carlson spotted the man in the cafe as the police car drove around the block. His partner, Willis Gordon, drove the cruiser around the block again and the pair surprised the intruder who told police he had noticed the car go by and had thought he had not been seen.

Police records showed the 38-year-old ex-convict had been in prison 6 times and had escaped over the wall of the Colorado State Prison cannery Friday at Canyon City.

He is being held on an open charge at police headquarters.

Hurt Pedestrian Found In Ditch

State Safety Patrol officers are looking for a truck which a pedestrian on Hwy. 77 said struck him Wednesday evening as he walked along the east side of the road.

Delbert Wall, 39, of Rt. 3 Lincoln was found in a ditch 4 feet from the highway opposite 4701 No. 56th. Wall told Sheriff's Deputies he had lain in the ditch almost a half hour before a motorist saw him.

He was admitted to Providence Hospital with 6 broken ribs, according to hospital authorities.

Crime Buster Schwarzkopf Is Dead At 63

West Orange, N.J. (UPI)—Maj. Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, 63, who was in charge of the investigation that cracked the Lindbergh kidnaping case, died at his home here of a perforated ulcer.

Schwarzkopf, rated as one of the nation's great criminal investigators, led the 2½-year search for the killer of the Lindbergh baby that resulted in the arrest of Bruno Richard Haptmann on Sept. 20, 1934.

At the time he arrested Hauptmann, Schwarzkopf was superintendent of the New Jersey state police, which he founded. Schwarzkopf also gained fame as the first master of ceremonies for the radio show "Gangbusters."

During his long and varied career, Schwarzkopf organized the crack West German police force while serving under Gen. Lucious D. Clay in the American Zone of Germany. In 1950, he was named chief of an American military mission in Italy and helped stamp out Communist activities.

Probe Stumped In Last Efforts To Find Bribe Rumor Sources

. . . Pittsburgh Television Case

Washington (AP) — Congressional investigations got nowhere in their last efforts to identify mysterious telephone callers or other possible sources of bribe rumors in a Pittsburgh television case.

"I cannot remember," was the theme of much of Earl F. Reed's testimony before the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee.

Reed, president of one of the firms which contended for Channel 4 in Pittsburgh was recalled because a number of other witnesses had cited him as their source of rumors.

One story alleged arrangements by the Hearst interests to provide $200,000 retainers for a law firm to include Federal Communications Commission Chairman George C. McConnaughey. Another was to the effect that McConnaughey was seeking $50,000 in retainers as the price of his vote for Television City, Inc., Reed's company.

McConnaughey, who has since left the FCC, has denied all such stories under oath.

Didn't Agree

Subcommittee chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) told Reed—who did not agree—that it was evident any rumors that would cause McConnaughey to disqualify himself would benefit Television City. The FCC for several weeks last year was deadlocked 3-3, with McConnaughey voting for the Hearst applicant, WCAE, Inc.

Harris told Reed, "everything, very frankly, points in a certain direction as to these rumors," and later snapped that the witness' professed failure to remember some details of great importance at the time was "ridiculous."

To all appearances unperturbed, Reed testified that he couldn't remember where or when he heard stories about bribe negotiations, nor how he learned the FCC was deadlocked, nor just how he found out a Television City attorney was going into a law firm with McConnaughey.

Long Distance

This last information, he said, may have come to him in a long distance call in Pittsburgh, but he could not remember where such a call was placed, by whom, or whether he inquired who was calling.

The Channel 4 case finally was settled in the fall of 1957, after McConnaughey had left the FCC. Television City and WCAE merged and got the channel and the 3 other applicants were paid $50,000 each under the head of expenses.

After hearing Reed and other witnesses, all of whom stuck to previous and often contradictory testimony, the subcommittee adjourned what may be its last public hearing.

Cold Halts Picketing At Elevator Site

Cold weather halted picketing by the Laborers' Local Union 1140 at the site of a grain elevator construction by the Chalmers and Borton Co.

Union representatives had been picketing the areas since Friday, because of refusal to hire any union labor.

Operators for the company have been crossing the picket lines, but steel haulers from Kansas City have refused to cross. The steel truckers are members of the Teamsters Union and unload the steel in front of the lines.

Union officials had not decided whether picketing would resume after the Thanksgiving holiday Thursday. No talks have been held between the union and the company.

Benson Praises Farm Vote To End Controls On Corn

Washington (AP)—The farmers' vote to end production controls on corn drew praise from Secretary of Agriculture Benson Wednesday. He called it a move toward a freer agriculture.

Benson also told a news conference he will have some recommendations on wheat and tobacco production programs for the new Congress meeting in January.

The secretary called Tuesday's corn referendum the first clear-cut choice the farmers have had on the question of controls. More than 71% of those who voted favored ending government production controls.

No further action is needed for the decision to take effect with the 1959 corn crop.

His Appraisal

Here is Benson's appraisal of the referendum's outcome:

"A firm expression by farmers of a willingness to move further in the direction of a freer agriculture and away from the burdensome, ineffectual programs of the past."

He said the old control program had not worked and pointed to the fact that most farmers turned their backs on it in recent years and decided not to comply with its optional requirements.

The net effect of the referendum was to favor acceptance of lower government price supports in return for freedom to grow all the corn anyone wants to.

Under the new program, there will be no planting allotments, but support prices are expected to average between $1.12 and $1.15 a bushel next year as compared with $1.24 and $1.27 had the old program been continued.

Boost To Administration

The farmers' vote could strengthen the administration's hand in getting the sort of farm legislation it long has been urging.

However, the potent National Grange and the National Farmers Union have criticized both the old and new corn programs, maintaining that neither could end overproduction or improve the relatively low prices now received by corn growers.

Benson said he believed that if there were any change in farm income under the new program, the change would be upward. He also said there might be a slight increase in corn production but that this would be offset by a reduction in other feed grains.

Big Salute

Pittsburgh (AP) — Small howitzers will be used for a 200-gun salute at Pittsburg famed Gateway Center as Pittsburgh's bi-centennial celebration formally gets under way.

There was a little doubt about the firing. Builders of a new Hilton Hotel feared the salute might set off so much vibration it would crack new cement.

An End To Controls

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Farmers across the nation have put an end to the federal government's control over production of corn. They did this by voting more than two to one in favor of a plan eliminating acreage controls and establishing a support price pegged at 90 per cent of the average market price for the past three years but not less than 60 per cent of parity.

It is anybody's guess as to what all this means and what its ultimate end will be but the best guess at this time is that the farmer has gone from bad to worse. The vote will be heralded as meaning many things it is not. One of the things it isn't is an endorsement of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson or his thinking. Nor does it represent any permanent solution to the farm program. At best, it could result in one to three years of relatively good farm conditions but even that great a benefit is questionable.

A Temporary Answer

For one thing, many of the nation's farmers — an estimated 65 per cent of Nebraska's — were taking no part, anyway, in the old program of acreage controls and supports. So many had abandoned that program, as a matter of fact, that the government was forced to support those farmers' production at a rate slightly less than given to those who complied with controls.

Thus, a great many farmers undoubtedly went to the polls Tuesday and voted for something they already had but did want to equalize things between themselves. They merely voted to put supports for their neighbors at the same place they stood for them.

And the total number of farmers voting was small, not at all a truly representative turnout. In Nebraska, the final count will show some 33,000 votes cast, less than a third of the estimated number of eligible voters. It is strongly believed that many farmers simply stayed away from the polls in the belief that neither alternative offered them by Benson was any good.

These elements involving voter participation and past compliance make it impossible to say with any certainty what the farmers had in mind when they voted. The main thing left to determine, then, is what is likely to happen as a result of Tuesday's decision. The decision opens the door to free and unfettered production by all farmers.

It is logical to assume that this will result in greater production and a growing surplus. As a matter of fact, farmers will have to produce more on an over-all basis to come out as well under the new program as they did under the old. The old system gave support prices of $1.36 per bushel for corn grown under acreage allotments and $1.06 per bushel on non-compliance corn.

Under the new program approved Tuesday, supports in 1959 will figure out at an average of from $1.12 to $1.15 per bushel for all. With a majority of farmers being under the lower support end of the old program, a majority will now realize some increase in their support price.

This undoubtedly brought out many votes for the new program. But the picture is not that good for future years. In 1960, for instance, 1956 will be thrown out as a basis for figuring supports and 1959 will be thrown in with 1958 and 1957 to determine the average market price of the past three years. Each year a similar change will be made and the new year added in will be 10 per cent less in price figuring than the one knocked out since supports will be only 90 per cent of the average market price.

A New Basis Yearly

Within three or four years at the longest the support price could drop to well below $1 per bushel. Previously, the government's parity support system maintained the market price also. But now, the market price will be maintaining or determining the government's support rate and so long as production climbs — as it will do under the new program — the market price will decline.

"We're Not Doing So Well In Geneva But We're Getting Disarmament Over Here, Anyhow"

America's Cherished Holiday

The American people have always regarded Thanksgiving as an endearing observance. It occupies a special place in their household of great holidays.

The day is observed quietly, mostly in the home—a tranquil occasion that places emphasis on good will, human security and togetherness. All of this is combined under a general appreciation of a kind providence which, it seems, has aided the efforts of an enlightened, well meant people.

Americans also have a strong tribal memory which tells them that this nation might never have been but for the helpful intervention of a greater-than-human force at times of dire crisis.

The American Thanksgiving is valid and distinctive because it expresses the personal experiences of this nation. But it is also a part of a principle that has existed everywhere at all times. In essense it consists of a conception of a world that man did not make but inhabits, a world whose mysteries and problems call for a superior guidance and help. Thanksgiving, while an expression of gratitude in the specific, is always a restatement of that belief in general.

It is a lamentable fact in this world that there have always been some who look upon the world as a prize and not a creation for a purpose. They scoff at thankfulness in a peculiar form of madness which prompts them to reach for that which they could not create, cannot understand and cannot attain.

That is the essential difference between the atheistic East and the enlightened West. The current force and magnitude of this conflict forms the crisis of our time.

Make The Old Work

Nebraska has not been without its share of controversy over taxes. But while this has been an area of heated debate, it would be wrong to assume that the state had a corner on the tax headache. Here is part of an editorial out of one daily newspaper:

"Officials already are talking of new taxes. Before these are imposed, we feel sure, taxpayers would prefer to know that the state is receiving all the income due it under present taxes and that there is no evasion."

That could well be a statement out of any Nebraska newspaper but it happens to be from the St. Louis Post-Dispatch in regard to that state's controversy over the adoption of a payroll withholding system for the state income tax. This does more than show us that the income tax would produce its share of arguments and disagreements.

It tells us that the idea of milking one tax dry, so to speak, before going on to another one is a popular idea. Its popularity is based on a simple fact. A variety of taxes can well mean nothing more than the fact that there is no efficiency in the collection of any of them. It seems elementary that a tax must be evenly distributed and diligently pursued if it is to produce as it should and bring about some tax equality.

The first order of any tax system should be equality. Tax evasion should be stopped before consideration is given to any new form of taxation. If evasion is left to persist, the adoption of a new tax will merely compound the inequality and unfairness that exist under the old tax. If one tax is not to be enforced, there is no reason to believe that a different one would be. That is why Nebraska will have a hard time broadening its tax base. The public doubts if the present property tax is enforced as it should be.

Alaska: Lesson For GOP

As the election returns roll in from Alaska the first general impression one gets is that the country has added another Democratic state to its number.

With the exception of one race, that for one of the U.S. senatorships, the Republican party was having a bad time of it. In the other senatorship race the Democratic bidder seemed in by a landslide. State offices followed the Democratic pattern.

Most interesting of the races was that between Republican Ernest Mike Stepovich and Democrat Ernest Gruening for the U.S. Senate. But it has overtones which tend to cancel it out as a typical test. Gruening remained in the leading position as vote totals accumulated. But his long and effective labor for statehood perhaps enlarged his hold on the hearts of Alaskans more than his party affiliation. On the other hand Stepovich received the maximum of help from the Eisenhower administration, bolstered by the personal appearance of Vice President Nixon and accompanied on his campaigning rounds by Interior Secretary Fred Seaton. Unquestionably such top drawer aid added substantially to his strength at the polls. But if there were any valid impressions to be drawn from this race it was that the administration in its strongest appeal lacked decisive strength.

As for Alaska as a whole its thinking, perforce, looks intensely at Washington and at party attitudes. So recently a territory and so greatly in need of resources development which it itself lacks the money and skill to do, it naturally inclines to a party which emphasizes the national need for that sort of development.

These are facts that the Republican party should digest in this hour when self inquiry seems more to the point than any further plans to recover its position by purely political mechanics.

Thanksgiving Spirit Lives

WASHINGTON — It's been 337 years since the Pilgrim fathers first gave thanks for being able to withstand their first year on the North American continent, and since that time some people have claimed Thanksgiving is getting too commercial.

I don't believe it. Looking over my mail I would say that the American people are a long way from going commercial. Stacks of letters and telegrams are on my desk indicating that people are still thinking very much about their fellow men.

One telegram comes from Paul Wintner, the Oceana International Co., of 1331 Halsey Street, Brooklyn. He had seen my column telling of the third grade at the Osage, W. Va., school which was dynamited and how the pictures they had drawn of the Pilgrim fathers carrying turkeys still remained on the walls amid the broken glass, the broken chandeliers, and the broken plaster. He had also read of the miners out of work in that little town.

So Mr. Wintner wired: "Would like to send 50 or more turkeys to the needy families of Osage. Could you be of assistance in helping us contact the proper individual in Osage?"

I telephoned Mayor Stanley Solomon in Osage and arranged for the turkeys. I telephoned Mr. Wintner. He didn't have time to send his own turkeys from New York, and since he wanted them to be in Osage on Thanksgiving day, he sent his check direct to Mayor Solomon. Mr. Wintner didn't want any publicity, but I'm ignoring his wish. It seems to me that seeds of good will planted on Thanksgiving day lead to other seeds on other days.

Here's another letter from a Polish lady in Philadelphia, Bella Kaplan, 1344 Hellerman Street. It's dated Nov. 11 and is addressed to the Clinton school board in Tennessee:

"Today is veterans day and I thought of wars. I have a good reason to think of it. Hitler's gangs killed every one of my family in Poland. My son, a young and brilliant student, closed his books in Temple University never to open them again, but to linger in a living death in a veterans hospital, and his father dying of sorrow. Thinking of all this, your school came to my mind and I know how you and all the citizens of your city feel—so I send you as much as I can; that it is very little, but will put a couple bricks in a new and I hope the most beautiful school in all the land, for your children of all groups and colors, and these wonderful children will become the citizens and teachers of a peaceful world. Amen."

DORIS FLEESON

Californians Planning 1960

SAN FRANCISCO — California Democrats are already erecting "keep off the grass" signs on their rich national convention delegate preserves. It is not that they are particularly hostile to any presidential candidates from outside — and they have seen them all in recent months.

What they do feel is that their best tactic in the party drive for national power is to maintain their bargaining position by name of a favorite-son candidacy for Governor-elect Edmund G. (Pat) Brown. The word is that if any rival wishes to make the test here, Brown will meet him head-on.

California was the 1956 power base of Adlai Stevenson, who is still highly regarded by important party leaders. It would certainly be a key point in a 1960 Stevenson draft, which his admirers now clearly hope for. Since he would not again enter any state primaries, the Brown favorite-son maneuver at this stage probably helps him by enlarging the possibilities for a convention deadlock.

☆ ☆ ☆

But the clinical history of the presidential virus is clear and plain. Once it is injected by kind friends for whatever reason, the victim may begin by running only a slight fever, but the disease soon takes command and normally runs its full course.

At this point Brown speaks of such potential glory with detachment and humor. His attitude, in fact, is much the same as that of his Republican opposite number on the east coast, Governor-elect Nelson Rockefeller of New York. Both talk only in terms of the job they must do as governor and seek to turn aside 1960 speculation.

Noticeably, however, both also show immense interest in "building the party" and helping to influence its policy.

Actually, both men are automatically involved in presidential politics simply because they are the governors-elect of the first and second states. No Republican has ever been elected President who did not carry New York; one Democrat—Woodrow Wilson — saved himself even after his GOP rival won New York by carrying California.

☆ ☆ ☆

Rockefeller in addition is the inevitable rallying point for Republicans and independents who do not like Vice-President Richard M. Nixon. Brown similarly is a natural spokesman for his party's expanding base in the West and Midwest, which is more liberal than its base in the South and has different problems than the one in the north.

The commanding position of the big states in matters presidential continues to increase in this era of mass communications. For three decades both parties have nominated their outstanding national favorite while the elections, with the recent exception of 1948, have been landslides.

This may be regrettable, but it is a trend unlikely to be reversed in the teeth of television, the flight to the cities and great industrial complexes situation in the big states. The latest election returns amply confirm it.

Let It Slip

One thing the November disciplining of the Republican party did not do was to chasten the administration itself.

This was no more self evident than in the fact that federal authority stayed its hand in the case of Bernard Goldfine. It permitted the statue of limitations to run on the matter of his failure to file the required annual reports on more than $2 million worth of Korean war contracts. It is on the basis of such reports that the U.S. Renegotiation board studies contracts to determine whether they involved excessive profits. The findings in turn form the basis of any criminal action if one is indicated.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

A Retriever Of Affection

By HAL HASSELBALCH
Star Staff Writer

While most hunting dogs are kept to provide essential services for their masters during hunting season and fill in as best they can as a pet, Lucky, a golden retriever in the John Fulk family at 2371 So. 60th, does the opposite.

First, last and almost always, Lucky is a pet. Occasionally he takes an opportunity to perform the duties for which his breed was developed.

Although he has had little training, when Lucky gets a chance to pick up a brid he is eager to perform the chore and does a competent job of it. His greatest fault, when it comes to retrieving, is that he cannot wait until told to get the bird.

Before the game hits the ground, Lucky bounds from his master's side to proudly fetch the bird. Though this is satisfactory to Fulk, such undisciplined behavior is taboo in competitive retrieving.

☆ ☆ ☆

But no one cares much how rambunctious Lucky becomes in the field. Hunting is a very small part of Lucky's life.

He spends most of his time entertaining the children and Mrs. Fulk. Affectionate almost to a fault, 20-month-old Joel is glad to take the licking, mooning and bunts that Lucky loves to dole out.

Jan, 4, finds Lucky's brusk attentions a little overwhelming.

Like most goldens, his master explains, Lucky feels he has to be touching the nearest friend at all times. He has to have at least a paw or his jaw resting on one's knee. Lucky is not content just to lie beside a chair where a member of the family is sitting. He simply has to have contact!

LUCKY, JOEL AND JAN FULK
. . . mighty hunter of mice . . .

Mrs. Fulk and Lucky also "understand each other." When the dog grumbles something, even though he is outside and she is in, Mrs. Fulk mumbles back and the two go on like that.

☆ ☆ ☆

As winter approaches, golden retrievers develop a thick layer of fine, almost waterproof hair beneath their usual long silky coat. This makes it possible for Lucky to spend almost all his life out of doors.

In fact, he spends more time in the house during the summer than he does in the winter. He seems to enjoy the Fulks' air conditioning more than he does their heating.

Though he is big and seems to play rough, he never bites and always takes all the abuse children dish out. He attracts children like Santa Claus.

He has somewhat of a reputation as a watchdog. However, when a car crashed through a high wooden fence and came to stop only a few feet from his dog house, Lucky did not make a peep.

The driver fled from the wreckage and disappeared without the slightest interference from Lucky.

But Lucky, the big blonde brute, is not a complete loss from a utilitarian standpoint. Mrs. Fulk reports that he is an excellent mouser!

Mail Delivery

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Many of the simple things in our everyday living are so taken for granted that we have lost the significance of their original humble beginnings. Such as dropping a letter in a slot and knowing it will go safely over land or sea.

In the good old days, the first written messages were carried by a male runner to an agreed point, here picked up by another. Since this took so much time, horses were injected into the service. Men now rode faster and farther. There remained the problem of being limited to the amount one could carry. With the increasing population, there was always more mail. It was then that someone thought of a horse-drawn truck. This took a driver seven hours to cover a 35-mile area and deliver to the 90 rural families, at the princely sum of $100 a month For this, he wallowed through hub-deep mire braved the icy blast of blizzards not forgetting the scorching mid-summer sun. All of this made the mailman a special person always welcomed into the farm homes. Here he stopped noons to feed his horses, enjoying dinner with the family. He was also a carrier of the town news.

In comparing, we find Lincoln's longest city route is nine miles, with 500 listed houses. The shortest is 1½ miles, situated in the city's largest apartment section. Here they have reverted back to the good ol' days, traveling on foot between relay posts, with pack averages of 35 pounds.

Choosing Lincoln's longest and shortest rural routes, we find, by car, No. 3 travels 7½ miles, serving 230 homes, while No. 7 covers 38.45 miles with its 180 families. They, too, brave the wind and weather, as all mailmen do, for the mail must go through.

Successful Vote

Hastings, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Whether the Democratic state committee was behind the program that took place the day before election, or whether it was the Democratic county committee that pulled it off is immaterial, but it was a winner. Despite a Republican margin of 20 per cent over the Democrats in previous elections, the program put Adams County on top in the "win" column for the Democrats.

The program worked, for it brought the Democrats to the polls at a cost price of not over 5 cents a vote, because every Democrat in Adams County received a hunch as to what might take place. And it took place in getting out the vote.

It is just such work as took place here that can bring the Democratic party to the fore in every county in the state. A reminder of election day at a strategic moment has proven mighty successful. I have watched election results for 70 years in this state and the one put over was the most sensible and successful one I have ever seen.

Home Fires

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Making fire prevention a "must" all the time was the theme of an article I read recently in an old "Popular Science" magazine at the City Library. It was Volume 153, dated 1948, and worth the reading. The title was "Your Home—Your Own Fire Trap."

It contained such items as fire prevention, how to fight a fire until the department arrives, and what to do in case of fire: We all think we know these things, but this article really covers it and in simple explanation and diagram's opens a person's eyes to the dangers of a fire-trap home. I am sure the fire chief and his men and all other departments in Nebraska will agree.

It's easy to say, "It can't happen to me," but people don't realize how careless they can be with fire hazards. Hats off to the firemen! Let's work with them by preventing home fires, leaving them ready for the big ones.

Heir-Apparent

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: When Mr. Eisenhower gave Nixon the nod as the party leader during the recent campaign, Dick regarded it as one more step upward in advancement of his own political ambitions. To Ike it was a relief from a somewhat distasteful duty.

When Ike made his offer, Dick quickly agreed
To lead GOP in a winner's stampede;
But Dick will remember
That fourth of November
Which left him as leader—with no one to lead.

The "New Nixon" fervor has sharply abated;
The "Stop Nixon" movement has accelerated.
Rockefeller appears
As a goad to Dick's fears;
A threat to his chance to be nominated.

So Nixon, who suffers from overexposure
To national limelight now fears foreclosure
Of his inherent right
As successor to Dwight,
While rapidly losing his former composure.

Help In Victory

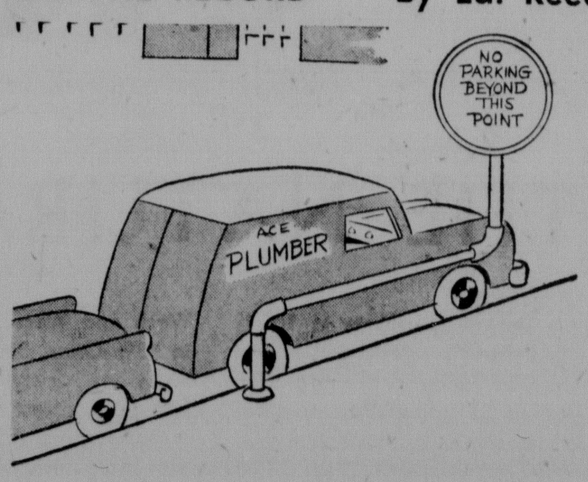

Bellwood, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am in full agreement with the very good Star editorial of Nov. 19, "Our Problems and Government." Many thousands of us common farm people and working people wish to thank The Star for helping us secure the fine victory of November 4.

On November 22 there was a letter written by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hafer of Seward on the great failure of the state and national Farm Bureau. I feel that this is 100 per cent true. Mr. Shuman and Mr. Marshall do not represent the regular and real farmers either of the United States or the state of Nebraska.

Planning Board OKs Truck Terminal Zoning

By Virgil Falloon

The City Planning Commission recommended approval of highway commercial zoning for a truck terminal site on the Cornhusker Hwy., but disapproved two other zoning requests following hearings Wednesday.

Approved for commercial use was the remaining area between Cornhusker Hwy. and Knox, Milton and Helen streets.

Union Freightways, presently at 8th and N, plans construction of a 130 by 200-foot terminal building on the site adjoining the Buckingham Transportation terminal facility, which is already zoned.

Disapproved was the request of Bryan Methodist Church for local business zoning of its property at the northwest corner of 53rd and South.

A church spokesman said property has been acquired at 60th and South for a new building program and the church wished to dispose of the old property for business use.

Presented was a petition with 433 signatures in support of the request.

The planning engineer recommended denial as extension of business zoning would have a deleterious effect on adjacent property.

Duplexes Denied

Also turned down was the request of Vain Franks for two-family dwelling zoning of 4 lots on 63rd between Lexington and Francis.

Proposed is the construction of 4 duplexes, facing 63rd.

Neighborhood objections were presented by Elmer Peterson and a protest signed by 23 persons residing in the area was submitted.

Denial was recommended on the basis of spot zoning and deleterious effect on a developing, single-family neighborhood.

A special use permit was approved for a parking lot at the southwest corner of 14th and G as a facility for the Medical Arts building at 13th and G, subject to landscaping and surfacing requirements.

Next meeting is scheduled for Dec. 10 with only one meeting planned for the month.

First National Capital Stock Increase OK'd

. . . By Stockholders

Stockholders of the First National Bank of Lincoln gave unanimous approval ot the directors' proposal to increase the institution's capital and surplus by $600,000.

The decision was made public Wednesday by President Burnham Yates, who said that steps required for the change would begin at once with a view to completion before the year's end.

A stock dividend of 5,000 shares will be declared and rights will be given stockholders to buy 10,000 shares at $50 per share. When these moves are completed the bank will have capital of $2,300,000, surplus of $2,300,000 and undivided profits of $700,000, for a total capital funds account of $5,300,000.

The change will extend the lending limits of the bank from $400,000 to $520,000 to an individual borrower and will also provide additional protection for depositors.

Preliminary approval has been granted by the U.S. Comptroller of Currency.

Yates explained the expansion as an adjustment to accomodate for the bank's growth, and for the prospective growth in Lincoln's economy.

6 Finalists For Activity Queen At NU

The queen will be revealed at a date to be disclosed later.

Finalists and the organizations they represent are:

GOP Recount Decision Set Next Week

Republican party leaders will meet next week to decide whether to force recounts of the balloting for Governor and state treasurer, according to state GOP Chairman Richard E. Spelts Jr. of Grand Island.

The meeting will follow Monday's official report of the state canvassing board on the outcome of the voting.

Bonds and other documents setting the stage for a possible recount demand were filed Monday with the secretary of state.

Unofficial Associated Press compilations, based on the final figures turned in to the state by county canvassing boards, gave Democrat Ralph Brooks a 1,607 vote bulge over Gov. Victor Anderson.

For state treasurer, Democrat Richard R. Larson of Omaha ran ahead of Republican Monroe Bixler by 2,265 votes.

Joseph Wishart of Lincoln, state Republican treasurer, said a close look will be taken at official canvassing board figures before any recount decision is made. He said the county totals show a certain consistency "that makes me think no major error has been made in the counties."

"We do not want to embarrass the incoming Brooks administration if there is not a good reason for a recount," he said.

He noted, however, that a recount would serve to alert election officials on the need for care in vote counting.

Spelts said the cost of a recount, if made, would not come from regular party funds. The GOP will be just a vehicle for collection of funds from contributors, he explained.

Vic, Brooks Want More Information Before Commenting On NU Budget

By Betty Person

Gov. Victor Anderson said he will give the University of Nebraska budget "careful study" before he makes any comment on its request for the coming biennium.

"The University should have an opportunity to explain its side of the story at the budget hearings before comments are made," Anderson said

Governor-elect Ralph Brooks also said that he will wait for comment on the University budget until he has studied the budget and heard what University officials have to say at the budget hearings.

"I think it would be presumptious of me to make any comment on it at this time," Brooks said, "I'm not recognized as an official and if the Governor refuses to make any statement, I think I should not make any either."

Because of the division of the budget between continuation of services at the present level for which the University has requested an adtional $4.2 million in tax funds) and the expansion program for which $1.6 million has been asked in tax funds), University Chancellor Clifford Hardin made separate comments on each.

Must Raise Scale

On the continuation budget, Chancellor Hardin said: "Because of the relationship of our salary scale to other universities, we feel that if we are to maintain a top-quality faculty we must bring our salary scale into a competitive position.

"The matter of adequate salaries continues to be our most difficult problem and for this reason we are placing the major emphasis on salary adjustments in our 1959-61 request."

On the expansion budget, the chancellor said, "The items included in this budget were selected from a much longer list presented by our faculty members, but are the ones determined most urgent either in terms of economic needs of the state or in terms of rounding out academic programs.

Advisory Requests

"In the case of requests for the college of agriculture, these were selected from a group of requests developed by (Agriculture College) Dean W. V. Lambert's advisory committee made up of citizens from over the state."

Board of Regents President C. Y. Thompson of West Point said the budget reflects the amount the Board believes is "necessary to maintain the kind of institution the people of Nebraska want."

Thompson added, "I don't think people generally realize that this money is not all spent on the city campus at Lincoln, but is spread over the entire state. It's a public service institution as well as academic, and there's hardly anyone in the state who doesn't profit either directly or indirectly from the services of the University."

NU Team 4th In Grain Judging

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI)—A University of Nebraska team placed 4th in the national collegiate grain judging contest held here.

Texas Tech took 1st place. Oklahoma State placed 2nd and Kansas State 3rd.

NU Asks $34 Million

(Continued from Page One.) in state tax funds; $3,949,980 in student fees; $3,167,257 in federal funds; $296,000 in county funds to care for indigent patients at University Hospital; $157,000 in reimbursements from outside agencies which carry on co-operative programs with the University, and $84,000 in income from University endowment funds.

University officials said they would need $1,618,460 for expansion programs, with the total amount to come from state property tax funds.

More than half of the "expansion" budget (about $900,000) would be earmarked for Agriculture College purposes: resident instruction, experiment stations, and extension services.

The bulk of funds in this category (about $800,000) would go to experiment station work, including a proposed new station to be located in Cherry County.

The University Hospital also would receive about $121,000 for expanded services, and the remainder (under $600,000) would be divided between such colleges as arts and science, business administration, engineering, teachers, graduate social work, conservation and survey, libraries and buildings and grounds.

$26,894,160 From Taxes

The combined total of both budgets means the University is seeking $26,894,160 in state tax funds.

The University did not include in its budget any estimated amount of cash auxiliary funds for the coming biennium, nor was the item listed for the current biennium.

The Legislative Council committee studying cash funds and budgeting recommended last week that the University and the state's 4 normal colleges not be required to list these auxiliary funds in the future, but there appears to be some disagreement on whether such listing is necessary for the present budget request.

The University's cash auxiliary fund is composed of money from dormitory rentals, receipts from intercollegiate athletics, sales of property and other miscellaneous sources and in no way involves tax funds.

Revolving Fund

A revolving fund with considerable fluctuation, the legislative committee noted it is not used for educational functions but for auxiliary enterprises and activities and other non-instructional purposes.

University Comptroller Joseph Soshnik said he "certainly will include the item in the budget if the tax commissioner requests it."

He estimated cash auxiliary funds appropriated for the current biennium at $16,838,000, and said such funds "might" amount to $16-18 million in the coming biennium.

Not Building Fund

Also not included in the budget was the estimated $1.8 million the University will receive in the next biennium from the institutional building fund levy.

The University receives 45% of the .75 special mill levy for the institutional building program.

Soshnik said it was his understanding that it was not necessary to include this in the budget because it is already fixed by the Legislature.

Another item included was an additional $96,000 for veterinary medical scholarships to Nebraska students being trained in other states.

The fund is not a part of the University budget for its operation, but is administered for the state by the University.

$1,527 Suit Claims Foreign Matter 'Poisoned' Coke

Dale L. Babcock Jr. of Lincoln filed a $1,527 damage suit Wednesday against the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Lincoln and Safeway Stores Inc.

He alleges in the suit, filed in Lancaster District Court, that on Dec. 22, 1957, he drank a Coke which contained "unknown foreign substances" and became "violently nauseated." He said his digestive system was "poisoned" as a result.

Babcock said he examined the Coke bottle and found an "old bottle cap and other foreign substances which . . . (he) could not identify" inside.

He alleged he purchased the Coke at a Safeway Store.

Expenses Listed

W. C. Fraser, Omaha, filed with the secretary of state Wednesday a statement showing contributions of $770 toward the re-election campaign of Republican State Railway Commissioner Joseph Brown. Fraser listed disbursements of $717.89.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

"There is one day when all we Americans who are not self-made go back to the old home to eat saleratus biscuits and marvel how much nearer to the porch the old pump looks than it used to . . ."

The brisk November weather descended on our valley the other night. In the morning there was a skimming of frost on the hillside. The wild holly has been heavy with red berries this year, a sure sign of early winter.

It is the proper season for hunting wild turkey.

I do not think there are any wild turkeys around here—I never heard of any. But you never can tell.

☆ ☆ ☆

Now, the way you hunt wild turkey is like this: You take a 3-year-old boy. And you put him in a warm suit and a muffler and a cap that pulls down over the ears.

You arm him with a popgun. (I do not carry any weapons myself. If I run into a turkey, I will battle him hand-to-hand.)

Well, now you sneak quietly up the hill. And you peek around the holly bushes and walk like an Indian. With your toes pointing in.

And about this time, somebody comes out and hollers: "Breakfast is ready."

We did not get a shot at a turkey. But you know what?

While we were hunting a turkey came in and gave himself up.

He gave himself up to the grocery man. The grocery man brought him around to the house in a package.

It is obvious this turkey heard we were looking for him. So he gave himself up and made a free and voluntary confession.

He is being stuffed at the moment. A lesson to all turkeys who try to evade hunters like us.

☆ ☆ ☆

I notice there are some critics who say the Pilgrim Fathers did not have turkey and pumpkin pie on Thanksgiving day.

But I do not intend to raise my son on dry fact. I intend to raise him on romance. (I think the Pilgrims ate squash. We do not give much attention to squash. We think pumpkin pie is better.)

I really wish we had a live turkey around the place.

When I was a boy we had real, live turkeys. And nothing pleased us more than seeing our grandfather execute the bird.

We were a bloodthirsty bunch. Whack!

☆ ☆ ☆

This turkey will do, however. After he surrendered, he froze himself in a cellophane wrapper. Very thoughtful of him, I will say that.

He froze himself in cellophane already printed with his description and how to cook him.

He is a bronze, broad-breasted turkey. And he should be cooked for two hours in a covered pan, being basted with pan drippings regularly.

He will then be carved by yours truly. One of the most expert turkey slicers this country has produced. We have been honing up the big knife just for this occasion.

The young man will say grace. The youngest child always says grace. You cannot understand much of it since they run words together—just the ending which goes "truly thankful, Amen."

☆ ☆ ☆

The main trouble with a turkey that gives himself up is he does not give up his feathers with him. At least there were none in the package.

When my grandfather executed a turkey, you could have the feathers to play Indian with. You stuck them in your cap and went around scalping each other.

If I were a turkey man, I would attack a package of feathers to the cellophaned, frozen turkey. It would make the story more believable.

Was Surprise Shower Honoree

In pre-nuptial courtesy to Miss Veleta Nordhausen, who has chosen Sunday, Dec. 28, as the date for her marriage to James Sutherland, Miss Barbara Coonrad and Miss Beverly Baker entertained at a dessert supper on Tuesday. Eleven guests were invited for the informal affair, and during the evening a miscellaneous shower was presented to Miss Nordhausen.

The News Around Town

There is nothing quite like a "guess who?" to keep one guessing—or, as in this instance, keeping a number of people in the dark—about a party.

The exciting idea about the whole thing is that the guests who have been invited won't know where to go until the day of the party—Here is the invitation:

"Dec. 13 is the date, so mark it on calendar and don't be late.

Frolic and fun is what's in store, we promise you it won't be a bore.

A number of things we want you to bring—yourselves, Christmas cheer — and one other thing—

A tree ornament, wrapped and tied with a string.

Watch The Star for further "info"—Dec. 13 is the date it will show.

In the personal column you'll find your clue. If it's signed "Funmakers" you'll know it's for you."

* * *

—But away from the future and back to Thanksgiving and Thanksgiving guests—Understand that Mr. and Mrs. George L. Towne are expecting out of town guests at their Thanksgiving dinner tomorrow—and visitors will include Mr. Towne's daughter, Mrs. Sally Rathsack of Yosemite Park, Calif., and his granddaughter, Mrs. Leo Winey, Mr. Winey and their daughter, Kathy of Grand Island. Mr. and Mrs. Towne will have 17 guests at the dinner which will be held at their home.

—And spending Thanksgiving week in Lincoln is Mrs. C. E. Alter of Denver who is the house guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hunt.

* * *

—We heard that Mrs. Albert Speier is spending Thanksgiving in New York City where she will be the guest of her son, Paul Speier, for several days.

* * *

—Since we are talking about holidays and guests—let's move on to the Christmas season. We learned this morning that Mr. and Mrs. Edward Angle and their two children, Everett and Elizabeth, will be arriving from Camarillo, Calif., on Dec. 19, to spend the holidays with Mr. Angle's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Everett Angle.

* * *

—From New Orleans comes news of the arrival of Miss Sally Gifford on Thursday, Nov. 20. Miss Sally is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gifford, Jr., and her mother is the former Mary Susan Muelhaupt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Muelhaupt of Des Moines, and Kappa Alpha Theta at Nebraska. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Gifford currently of Lincoln—but soon of Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Gifford have sold their home in Lincoln, and will leave on Saturday to reside in Minnesota.

Was Hostess

Members of the Lookout Extension Club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Byron Perkins. The lesson on, "Family Life", was given by Mrs. Wilber Hassenplug and Mrs. Marvin Burcham.

The group's annual Christmas party will be held Dec. 19, at the home of Mrs. Rollie Burcham.

Bride On Wednesday

MRS. DONALD RAY SARRINGAR

In the presence of the members of the immediate families, the marriage of Miss Marjorie Ann Lawless of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lawless of Rockport, Mo., to Donald Ray Sarringar, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Sarringar of Mission Hill, S.D., was solemnized Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 26. The lines of the 4:30 o'clock service were read by the Rev. J. O. Gibson at the First United Presbyterian Church.

The maid of honor and the bride's only attendant was Miss Martha Harrison of Rockport, Mo., who wore a gray dressmaker suit with red accessories. A corsage of red roses completed her ensemble.

Gary Sutton of Lincoln, Ill. served as best man.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of winter white wool fashioned in the daytime mode. Three-quarter sleeves accented the snug bodice, beneath which the skirt flared into hemline width, and her accessories were in matching tone. She wore a corsage of orchids.

Upon their return from a southern wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Sarringer will make their home at 1029 So. 19th. The bridegroom is a former student at Yankton, S.D., College, and Mrs. Sarringer is a member of the office staff of the University of Nebraska College of Dentistry.

Dear Abby . . .

A Real Thankful Woman!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been married 24 years and loved every minute of it. We have had bad times, strikes, layoffs and illness but we have come through all right. If one has a complaint, we air it out and talk it over. We never go to bed mad at each other. We have one son who recently married. His wife is a doll. A little older than him—but so what? They are happy. I had been married before but that is never brought up. My husband lived with another woman before he married me but that is never brought up, either. We get along with our in-laws like eggs and bacon. We trust each other. I just thought you might like to get a letter like this for a change. Isn't it a relief from the crazy mixed-up world?

MRS. J. MAC N.

DEAR MRS. MAC N: You bet! And what an appropriate letter to print on Thanksgiving!

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I am a sophomore in college. Last night I went out with a girl and she tried to get fresh with me. I am not square, Abby, but I believe that some things are sacred. I don't object to a good-night kiss or a few affectionate hugs along with hand-holding at the proper time, but I don't think advances on the part of the girl are right. Is there something the matter with the way I was raised, or is this the accepted mode of courtship these days?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Nothing has changed. There will always be girls who think "a gentleman is a patient wolf." Stick to your principles!

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: We are two working girls who share a one-bedroom apartment. We have to get up at 6:30 every morning to go to work and we need our sleep. An old bachelor, who has a very active social life, moved into the apartment next to ours and he keeps very irregular hours, but our biggest problem is this: We can hear him gargling at all hours in the morning and night. Two nights last week he gargled between three and four in the morning. This morning he was gargling at 5:30. You can't call a man and tell him to stop gargling, but it is very annoying just the same. Any suggestions?

ANNOYED

Dear Annoyed: Ask your landlord to either silence the gargler, move him — or "cough up" a more quiet apartment for you. (P.S. Last resort—ear plugs.)

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle this argument between me and my husband? My husband refuses to wear a wedding ring. He says wedding rings are for women not men. I told him that if he doesn't have to wear one, neither do I. What do you think?

LITTLE GOLD BAND

DEAR LITTLE: Silence IS golden, but the little gold band is far from silent. It speaks volumes. If your husband refuses to advertise his marital status he is wrong. Two wrongs don't make a right. Wear yours.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I go with a girl I like a lot, but every time I go to her house to take her out her father dollars me to death. He always has a "hot tip" on a horse and asks me to pitch in a dollar and he bets a dollar. I have yet to see one of his horses come in. Should I tell him I don't care to bet with him or should I keep my mouth shut and keep on handing out dollars?

NO BETTOR

DEAR NO: Quit handing out the dollars, and mention to your girl that you are no bettor. If she doesn't speak to her Dad about this, she is "no better" (than her father, that is).

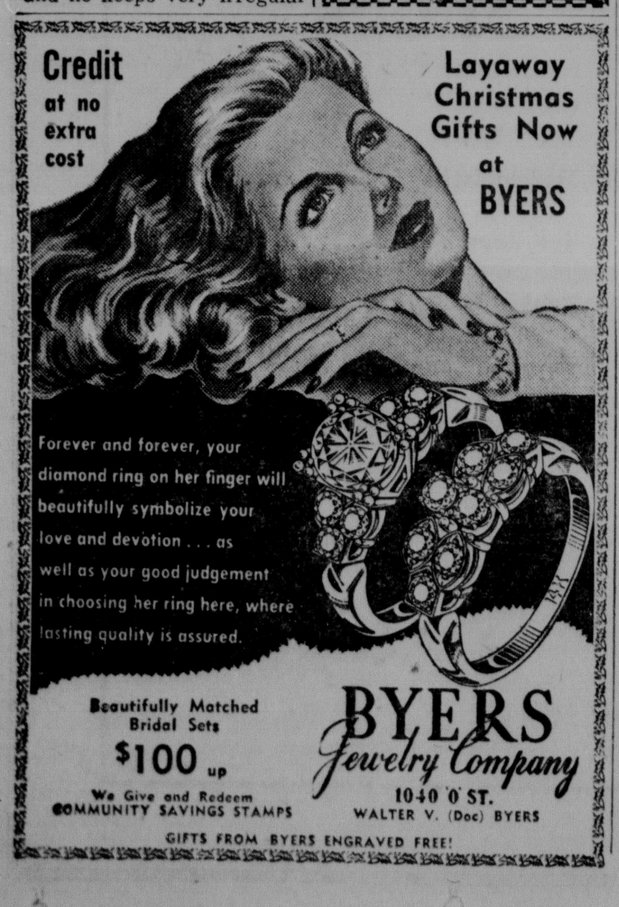

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I decided that this year for my vacation I would just stay home and relax. This was the worst mistake I ever made. My wife handed me all the odd jobs she had been saving up for five years. I cleaned the garage, painted the screens, poured concrete for the patio. I sanded and re-varnished all the floors in our eight-room house. I never worked so hard in all my life. I have to go back to work on Monday and I need a vacation from my vacation. It's too late for me, but be a pal, Abby, and print this. It might save some other sucker who decides to spend his vacation at home just "taking it easy."

BEAT

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope

Had Church Ceremony

MRS. DAVID TEACHMAN

Lighted white candles and bouquets of pink chrysanthemums formed the background at Grace Methodist Church Wednesday evening, Nov. 26, for the wedding of Miss Sandra Jane Simmons, daughter of Mrs. Kathyleen Simmons, and David Teachman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Teachman. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. M. R. Willis.

Wearing alike frocks of patterned net over satin in the aqua tone were Miss Ann Barnard as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Michelle Simmons, sister of the bride, and Miss Jeanne Patterson. They wore matching head bandeaux and carried pink carnations. Mrs. Donald Shephard and Miss Dorothy Phelan lighted the chancel candles.

Thomas Clare served Mr. Teachman as best man, and seating the guests were John Teachman, brother of the bridegroom, Peter Steva and Russell Meyer.

White lace and nylon tulle over satin fashioned the bride's waltz-length gown. Petal scallops of the lace dotted with sequins edged the portrait neckline of the long-sleeved bodice of lace, and the lace continued beneath the narrow waist to form a pointed peplum over the full skirt of ruffled tulle. A bandeau of jeweled lace held her illusion veil, and she carried a cascade of red roses.

The couple will reside at 1011 So. 9th. Mr. Teachman is a student at the University of Nebraska College of Engineering.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

EASTBOROUGH

Understand that Mrs. Donald Schulte returned home last week after a trip to Chevy Chase, Md. Accompanying Mrs. Schulte upon her return was her sister, Mrs. Arthur Red, and her children Barbara Karen and Jonathan of Chevy Chase. The Red family plans to visit in Eastborough through the Christmas holidays, and will be joined in December by Lt. Cmdr. Red.

Entertaining Thanksgiving Day guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Beem. The visitors will be Mr. Beem's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Marvin S. Beem, and Mr. and Mrs. Max Beem, all of Omaha.

Recently visiting in Eastborough were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Parkins of Hoople, N.D., who were the guests of their sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Delos Moulton Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. James Farkas.

Mr. and Mrs. Parkins left Lincoln last Friday for Glendale, Calif., where they plan to spend the winter months.

PARK VALLEY HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Herbert and their children, Pam and Vicki, will be spending the Thanksgiving holiday in Lawrence as the guests of Mrs. Herbert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kroening.

On Sunday, Nov. 30, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Holland will motor to Carleton where they will visit Mrs. Holland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Miller.

Host and hostess to dinner guests on Thanksgiving Day will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert White. On hand for the family affair will be Mr. and Mrs. Pearl White, Mrs. Nellie Curtis, John White, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry White and their children, Connie and Rickey, and Donald White.

Heard that Mrs. Lewis Holland and Kenneth Alles were indeed taken by surprise on Monday evening when they were birthday honorees at a party held at the Steak House. Joining in the gala celebration were Mrs. Alles, Mr. Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Robert White, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Speck, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Westrick, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Leigh, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Herbert, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Herbert.

Another birthday celebrant in the neighborhood this week was Diane Leigh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Leigh, and in honor of her fourth anniversary Diane was hostess at a Tuesday afternoon party held at her home. On hand for the festivities were Carolyn and Linda Enterline, Lynn Herbert, Yvonne Davis, Larry Holland, Linda and Kathy White, Pam and Vicki Herbert, Larry Legler, Alan Jenson, Donald and Sterling Chapman, Ricky and Joanne Robertson, Sandra Whitmann and Tye Allen.

Mention of the Leigh family reminds us that Mr. Leigh's mother, Mrs. Ella Leigh of Calloway, arrived last week for an extended visit.

On Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Leigh will be entertaining members of their family at a dinner at their home.

Board To Meet

The monthly meeting of the board of St. Leger Cowley Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be held Saturday afternoon at the YWCA. The meeting will begin at 1 o'clock.

Plan Dinner

The Republican Business and Professional Women's Club will hold its annual Christmas party and dinner at the YWCA on Monday evening, not Tuesday as originally scheduled.

Joining the club as special guests will be the members of the Lancaster County Republican Women and the Cornhusker Republican Women's Club.

Following the 6 o'clock dinner, Mrs. Hazel Abel will speak on her trip to Europe and the Brussels Worlds Fair. A short talk will be given by Mrs. Fritz Craig, and a program of music will be presented by the Lincoln High School boys' octet.

We Hear That

Word has been received in Lincoln of the birth of twin daughters, Rebecca and Ruth, to Mr. and Mrs. Jim L. Heldenbrand of Minneapolis, formerly of Lincoln, on Sunday, Nov. 9. Mr. and Mrs. Heldenbrand (Myrna Westgate) also have two sons, David who is four, and Paul, two years old. The babies' grandparents are Mrs. V. V. Westgate and Mr. and Mrs. Rex R. Heldenbrand, all of Lincoln.

Attendants Announced

Announcing the members of her bridal party is Miss Florence Maser whose marriage to Allen White of Kansas City, Mo., will be an event of this Saturday.

For the ceremony, which will be solemnized at Trinity Methodist Church, the bride-elect has named Mrs. Donald Woolery of Denver as her matron of honor, and the maid of honor will be Miss Pat Moran of Kansas City. Mrs. Phillip Ostwald of Cedar Rapids, Ia., will be in attendance as the bridesmatron.

There Is A Johansson, That Much Is Certain

New York (AP) — There is an Ingemar Johansson.

And he's a poised, good looking, unmarked fighter who thinks he has a good chance of getting a crack at heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson in the U.S. next summer.

"He'll beat Patterson, too," said Edwin Ahlquist, Swedish promoter and "advisor" of the undefeated heavyweight king from Sweden.

"I hope so," was Ingemar's comment."

Johansson and Ahlquist came out of involuntary seclusion Wednesday to meet the press and say they think there is a good chance of making the title fight.

"I can't think of any obstacles in the way," said Ahlquist in reply to a question.

"That's his opinion," said Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager. "I have no comment."

But he did later, about 5,000 words worth. It was all said, too, in an oft-interrupted comic opera press conference in Cus' crowded, two-room studio apartment on Broadway.

Ahlquist said the trip was worth while. He said he intended to come back in January with the hopes of having everything settled.

"I must know by February the latest whether Ingemar will fight Patterson," said Ahlquist.

"If we don't get it decided then I intend to go ahead with two important fights, one I will promote in Sweden with Ingemar against a leading American. The other would be a big one in London—a European title fight against the winner of the Brian London-Henry Cooper English title fight.

"Everything is up to D'Amato. He is the key. He manages the world champion."

Asked whether he would prefer to fight Patterson in Sweden or the U.S., Johansson quickly replied.

"Better here. It would draw much more money here. They tell me it would make a lot of money in the Yankee Stadium."

Some 50 reporters, photographers, radio men and D'Amato aides milled around in the living room. Interviews were going on simultaneously in different parts of the room with D'Amato, Johansson, Ahlquist, and reporters with reporters, both domestic and foreign. Late comers were filled in by the earlier arrivals but it all added up to confusion.

"Sum it up," said one late reporter who had just been identified and permitted into the apartment.

"You got me," said one of the earlier ones. "How do you sum up nothing?"

D'Amato shouted for attention several times. He said he wanted to clarify the situation.

"Goot," said a foreign reporter. "It vould help."

"Gentlemen," said Cus. "First I want you to know that these two fine gentlemen from Sweden met secretly with us because I wanted it that way. We conducted negotiations out of town but I won't tell you where.

"They came here voluntarily to see me. We cleared up the air at these meetings. We cleared up many misunderstandings that existed involving both of us.

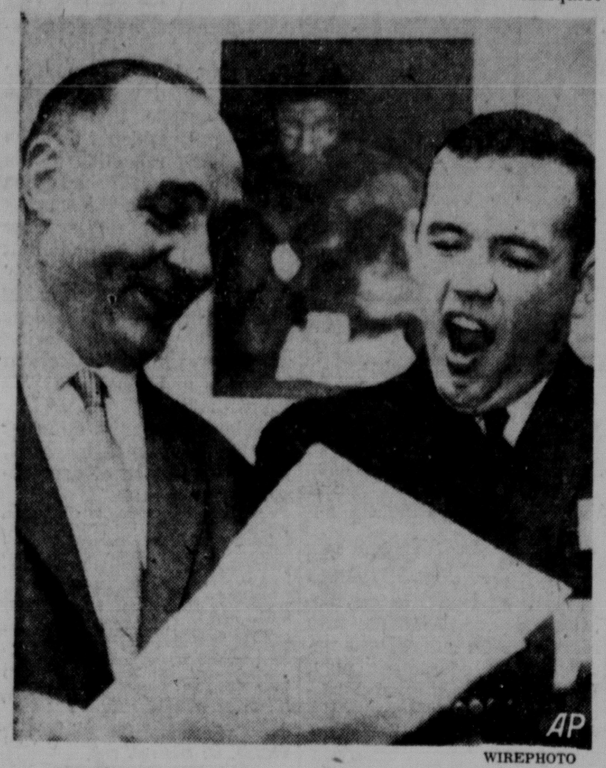

"I am dealing in 5 possible fights for Patterson and the Johansson fight is just one of them. We have received a guarantee of substantially more than $250,000 for a fight in Colorado Springs to meet one of 5 top ranking fighters. Outside of that I can't tell you any more.

"I don't want any obstacles thrown in my way by the IBC (the International Boxing Club with whom he is feuding). We intended to have 3 title fights last year and we only had one."

The two Swedes said they intended to leave for Europe either Wednesday night or this morning, depending on plane schedules. There was a possibility, Ahlquist said, they might stop off in England en route to Sweden. They had arrived here Thursday without being noticed.

Johansson said he planned to go back into training immediately.

"I have 5 exhibtions coming up soon in small places in Sweden. I will box with my brother Rolf. He is an amateur middleweight."

Turkey Traditionals On Tap

Eastern Contests Attract Spotlight

By The Associated Press

Renascent Eastern football, original source of the idea that an afternoon in an icy stadium is the proper preliminary to a big Thanksgiving dinner, regains a share of its former glory today.

With the major conference titles and the automatic bowl selections virtually wrapped up for the season, the ancient Penn-Cornell, Pitt-Penn State and Brown-Colgate tussles assume at least equal importance to the nationally televized Texas-Texas A&M encounter.

The lure of these games is largely traditional. The same thought applies to such games as Virginia Tech-V.M.I., Richmond-William and Mary, Utah-Utah State and Denver-Colorado State University—and they all fall somewhat under the shadow of the even bigger traditional classics, such as Army-Navy, coming up Saturday.

Here's what they have to offer:

Pitt and Penn State, both 3-time losers, still rate among the East's better teams although their bowl hopes have been dashed. Each has lost to Nebraska and Syracuse by close margins and scores against other common opponents indicate a real close tussle.

Pennsylvania, whose recovery from the football doldrums began with a 14-6 upset of Cornell a year ago, can complete its most successful season in several years with a victory. Cornell, by winning, could take some sting out of the midseason collapse that cost it a chance for the Ivy League title. They're tied for 3rd in the Ivy now and the winner will tie Princeton for second.

Colgate doesn't figure to offer too strong opposition to Brown and the big thing here is the chance for quarterback Frank Finney to take whatever Brown passing and offense records he doesn't already hold.

The Texas-Texas Aggie game always is a no-holds-barred affair and television viewers (NBC, 2 p.m. CST) can expect an interesting afternoon though there's nothing much at stake. They have identical 2-3 Southwest Conference records though Texas has the better overall standing.

Second place in the Southern Conference is at stake in the meeting between Virginia Tech (2-1) and VMI (2-1-1) and South Carolina can solidify its hold on second in the Atlantic Coast Conference by beating Wake Forest. In the Missouri Valley Conference, Wichita (1-1-1) could tie North Texas State for first place by beating Tulsa or drop almost to the bottom by losing.

Dick Bass, one of the nation's leading ground gainers, gets a big chance to grab the NCAA total offense title from Iowa's Randy Duncan when College of the Pacific goes against Fresno State.

Little At Stake In NFL Tilt

Detroit (AP) — The Detroit Lions and the Green Bay Packers, coached by a pair of old pros who roomed together in their playing days, will meet here today in the National Football League's only Thanksgiving Day game.

Little is at stake but the game, which will be televised nationally (CBS-TV, 11 a.m. CST).

The Lions, who climbed uphill to a dramatic championship last year, lost their final chance at repeating when they went down 20-7 at the hands of the Chicago Bears last week.

Green Bay's hapless packers are floundering at the bottom of the Western Division standings.

Old friends from their playing days with the Chicago Bears, the Lions' George Wilson wanted to hire the Packers' Scooter McLean for his staff before the Scooter got the top job at Green Bay.

The Packers' leading ball carrier, fullback Howie Ferguson is expected to remain on the sidelines with a shoulder injury. Paul Hornung probably will continue in his place.

Kearney, NWU 'Tip-Off' Favorites

. . . Cage Tourney Opens Monday at Pershing

By Ron Speer

Kearney and Wesleyan are the seeded teams in the NAIA District 11 "Tip-Off" Basketball Tournament which begins Monday night in Pershing Auditorium.

Both the Antelopes and the Plainsmen drew opening-round byes.

Monday night's action will match Doane and Dana at 7:30 with Concordia and Midland meeting in the 9:30 nightcap.

The Doane-Dana winner will meet Kearney Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. and Wesleyan is paired against the Midland-Concordia winner at 9:30.

Wednesday the opening-round losers will meet in a 5:30 p.m. consolation game, with the 2nd-round losers playing for 3rd at 7:30 and the championship game slated for 9:30.

The pairings were announced at an informal Wednesday noon luncheon. On hand for the luncheon were Woody Greeno of Wesleyan, tourney chairman; Irv Peterson, Wesleyan basketball coach and chairman of District 11 of the NAIA; Dick Wagner, manager of Pershing Auditorium; Tom O'Donnell and Gus Kopta of Gold's; Fred Hess, NWU publicity director, and members of the press, radio and TV.

Peterson explained at the luncheon that this year's tourney involving 6 teams is scheduled to become an annual affair, with 12 teams to compete in the future.

The District 11 "Tip-Off" tourney is one of 31 being held by the NAIA throughout the country. The district meets replace the national NAIA "Tip-Off" tournament held in Omaha in recent years.

UCLA, SC Block Cougar Bowl Bid

Spokane (AP) — The Washington State Cougars' bid for a post-season football bowl game was blocked Wednesday by two old rivals, UCLA and the University of Southern California.

The Pacific Coast Conference approved WSC's request to negotiate with the Sugar or Gator Bowl by a 7-2 vote but the two Los Angeles schools challenged legality of the petition.

Washington State had received no formal invitations. But the Cougars were mentioned for the Sugar and Gator Bowls after California got the Rose Bowl.

PCC rules prohibit any conference school from playing in a post-season game other than the Rose Bowl, but permit a school to apply for a waiver. Washington State did that Monday but the UCLA-Southern California action cancels the vote.

"They invoked an obscure veto clause — Article 4-G—of the PCC athletic constitution," said Stan Bates, the WSC athletic director. "I'm shocked and so is our president."

The article requires that petitions of this type can only be voted upon at a regular conference meeting.

In Los Angeles, Dr. Bradford Booth, UCLA faculty atletic representative, said UCLA was "sentimentally disposed to support" Washington State's petition. But he said the school could not do so in view of conference obligations to the Tournament of Roses and NBC which telecasts the game.

A UCLA spokesman, who said he was not personally involved in making the decision, said: "To change a rule in the PCC you don't usually do it by telegram; you do it at a meeting."

The spokesman said UCLA has been invited to post season games — other than the Rose Bowl — in the past and had never asked the conference to waive the restriction against such games.

"How could UCLA and USC be so petty," said Don Ellingsen, the star Cougar end and co-captain. "There goes the end of my career."

Cannon, Dawkins Lead All-America

. . . Most Popular On UPI Team

New York (UPI) — Billy Cannon, the big offensive threat in Louisiana State's climb to the No. 1 national ranking, and versatile Pete Dawkins of Army were the most popular choices on the 1958 United Press International All-American football team announced Wednesday.

Cannon and Dawkins headed a perfectly balanced backfield that included quarterback Randy Duncan of Iowa and fullback Bob White of Ohio State.

The All-America line was made up of Buddy Dial of Rice and Sam Williams of Michigan State at ends; Ted Bates of Oregon State and Brock Strom of Air Force Academy at tackles; John Guzik of Pittsburgh and Al Ecuyer of Notre Dame at guards, and Bob Harrison of Oklahoma at center.

Ecuyer, the only repeater from the 1957 United Press All-America, barely edged Guzik as the outstanding line selection in the voting by 278 sports writers and radio and television broadcasters from all over the country.

The "dream team" thus was made up of 4 players from the Midwest; two from the East and one each from the Southwest, Pacific Coast, Midlands, Rockies and South. Nine of the players are seniors, Cannon and White are juniors.

The closest contest in the 1958 All-America voting was at end, where Williams barely beat out Monty Stickles of Notre Dame for a first team position, 1,097 points to 1,021. The voting for tackle was the most scattered of any position on the team.

Cannon, a 200-pound triple-threat who led LSU through a perfect season of 10 victories and a berth in the Sugar Bowl, polled 2,276 points out of a possible perfect score of 3,068. He beat out Dawkins by 22 points. Duncan had 1,923 points and White 1,731. With 4 backfield spots available, the backs traditionally poll more points than the linemen.

Ecuyer received a total of 1,562 points to 1,551 for Guzik and 1,438 for Harrison.

Sports Editor, The Star

Eat a light breakfast, Friends!

This is the day the old boiler really takes a beating so you might as well save it for one big fling.

By the way, The Star Sports Staff sends along a carload of Thanksgiving greetings to all. And may your turkey have 4 drumsticks.

* * *

Thanksgiving always means some traditional football games and the windup of the collegiate season.

Only 3 Big 8 teams are in action, the rest having packed their gear after last week's outing. The conference lineup: Oklahoma at Oklahoma State; and Colorado hosting the Air Force.

Here's the way I see it:

Oklahoma 28, Oklahoma State 12 . . . Sooner speed does it.

Air Force 13, Colorado 8 . . . Not much left for Buffs, but they might get up enough to pull a stunner.

* * *

Last week this corner guessed right on 30 games, missed 5 and got stuck with 3 ties for a .792 percentage. That makes the season record, going into the final week, 297 for 410 and .725.

Tally-ho and here we go!

East

Army 20, Navy 12 (edge to Dawkins and Anderson) . . . Brown 24, Colgate 8 . . . Pittsburgh 14, Penn State 6 (it's rude, but I can't help laughing) . . . Penn 17, Cornell 10.

Midwest-Southwest

Texas 13, Texas A&M 10 . . . Houston 22, Texas Tech 13 . . . Cincinnati 8, Miami of Ohio 6 . . . Texas Christian 20, Southern Methodist 8 . . . Tulsa 15, Wichita 7 . . . Marquette 19, Arizona State 17 (so it's a flyer) . . .

South

Clemson 32, Furman 8 . . . South Carolina 8, Wake Forest 7 (here's hoping Paul Amen can spring a surprise) . . . Richmond 34, William & Mary 21 . . . Auburn 27, Alabama 13 . . . Florida 16, Miami 10 (who says the pros always win) . . . Georgia 19, Georgia Tech 13 . . . Mississippi 23, Mississippi State 7 . . . Tennessee 10, Vanderbilt 8 (yeah, I wouldn't believe it either.)

West

Notre Dame 27, Southern California 13 (maybe) . . . College of Pacific 25, Fresno State 14 . . . Utah 20, Utah State 12 . . . Colorado State 17, Denver 7.

Post Script

And now to the more serious things in life.

Please pass the turkey.

'It's Great To Be Alive' Says Campy, Home For Holiday

Glen Cove, N.Y. (AP)—"It's great to be alive."

Those were Roy Campanella's grateful words Wednesday as the former Dodger catcher, still paralyzed from the neck down, was to spend his first Thanksgiving Day at home following his tragic automobile accident of 10 months ago.

"I've got so many things to be thankful for," said the wheelchair bound Campanella, who only a week ago was able to discard the brace that had held his head in place ever since operation for a fractured neck last January.

"I'm thankful I'm alive. I'm thankful that no member of my family was with me at the time of the crack-up. I'm thankful the car didn't burn up when it overturned. I'm thankful I didn't die on the operating table. I'm thankful I've got all my senses. I'm thankful just to be home with my family. I just can't begin to tell you how lucky I am."

This from a man who on last Thanksgiving was eagerly looking forward to the Dodgers' move to Los Angeles because "It will add 10 years to my baseball career."

This from the once great catcher who is learning all over again to catch a ball as part of his rehabilitation program. This from a once robust, agile athlete who now is limited to only the use of his arm and shoulders.

Make no mistake about it, Campy was happy and sincere as he counted his blessings. His eyes glistened as he looked at his wife, Ruthe, busily preparing the table for the evening dinner. He was surrounded by 4 of his 6 children, David 15, Roy Jr., 10, Tony 8 and Princess 5. The other two, 18 and 19-year-old daughters attending out of town colleges, were expected momentarily.

"Look at these kids," Roy exclaimed. "They're not worried a bit about me being in a wheel chair. 'Daddy's home!" That's all they care about. I have trouble keeping the little ones out of the bed, they're in there with me. I've got no time to sulk with them around."

As he spoke he kept flexing his wrists, moving his arms across his body and over his head. He kept pivoting his shoulders in quarter turns.

"I've got to keep my muscles limber," he explained, "so as to keep up the circulation and prevent them from tightening up."

Campy has no movement in his legs and very little in his fingers. He was very proud that he is now able to open a book or newspaper and to hold light objects.

"You know something," he said. "I held a glass in my hand yesterday . . . full of water. That was the first time. And I picked up a hamburger. My boy, Tony, made it for me, too. It may not seem like much to the average guy but it meant a great deal to me. It proved to me that I'm making progress."

Campy is able to manipulate his battery-operated wheel chair with the aid of electrical buttons on each arm but he still has to be carried from bed to the chair, he has to be dressed and undressed. He feeds himself with the aid of a mechanical device attached to his right arm.

Knot-Hole Section For Young Ice Fans

Youngsters, 14 and under, will be admitted to Saturday evening's opening hockey game at Pershing Municipal Auditorium under a special knot-hole arrangement announced late Wednesday.

Two sections each will be reserved for girls and boys. Knot-hole admission will be 50 cents.

The Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce has agreed to assist in supervision of the youngsters.

Marion, Partner To Take Houston Franchise; Hope For Major Club

St. Louis (AP)—Marty Marion and his business partner made a deal Wednesday to buy the Houston club of the Texas League with the hope of bringing major league baseball to the Texas city within a couple of years.

The deal to buy the club from the St. Louis Cardinals will be carried out only if a proposed realignment of the American Association and the Texas League materializes at the major-minor league baseball meeting in Washington next week.

Marion said the realignment would elevate Houston from Class Double A baseball to Triple A and that this could be used as a stepping stone to major league baseball.

Marion, known as Mr. Shortstop when he played with the St. Louis Cardinals, said he hoped the transition could be made "within the next couple of years" but he added, "I have no idea how long it would take."

The price for the Houston franchise and 18 players on its roster was not disclosed but the Cardinals' front office previously said it would accept $100,000.

"Baseball is my first love and I am glad to be back in it," Marion said after the sale to him and Milton Fischmann of St. Louis was announced at a press conference at the Cardinals' general office. Marion once managed the Cardinals.

In Houston, the Marion-Fismann transaction was interpreted as possible creation of competition for the Houston Sports Assn., a syndicate of businessmen seeking to bring major league baseball to that city.

Representatives of the Houston group were in St. Louis at the time of Wednesday's Cardinal announcement.

George Kirksey, executive secretary, said the group had decided against purchasing the Texas League franchise.

"Our people wouldn't go for it from the Triple A angle," Kirksey said. "Our inclination was to purchase the franchise and operate in the Texas League until major league baseball is available. So our decision was negative. Triple A. operation poses problems for which we don't feel we have the solution. I am confident we made the right move. Our discussions with the Cardinals were most cordial."

Kirksey pointed out that if the Houston group is able to acquire a major league franchise it still would be able, under baseball law, to draft the territory from whatever league Houston might be in at the time.

Kirksey's backers were the leaders of a successful campaign which saw Harris County (Houston) residents last July approve a 20 million dollar revenue bond proposal for construction of a huge county sports center.

Cadets Rate Big Edge Over Navy

By Dick Dunkel

Not since the days of Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis has an Army football team been such a strong favorite over Navy.

Saturday's service classic shows the Cadets' Dunkel Rating is 107.3 as compared to the Middies' 93.9—a difference of about 13½ points.

But as the famed duo of Doc and Glenn would remember, Navy is never an authentic underdog. The old Cadet pair had their final crack at the Middies in 1946. Army was favored then by a solid 26 points, but had to settle for a gruelling 21-18 victory.

This year's drama, starring a new Cadet pair, Pete Dawkins and Bob Anderson, might easily turn out to be a revival.

Except for Navy's unfortunate comparison on results against Notre Dame, its rating records have been fairly even. Navy lost to the Irish 40-20 while Army prevailed 14-2.

Records show their opposition indices to be virtually equal — 82.2 for Navy, 82.4 for Army. Against this, the Middies have set a net scoring superiority of 11.7 points per game compared to Army's 24.9, which accounts for the 13-point spread.

Other big games set for both Thanksgiving Day today and Saturday include the following pars:

Today—Texas 1 over Texas A&M, Penn 8 over Cornell, Pittsburgh even with Penn State, South Carolina 7 over Wake Forest, Cincinnati 9 over Miami (O.), Tulsa 7 over Wichita and Mississippi Southern 26 over Chattanooga.

Saturday — Oklahoma 18 over Oklahoma State, Auburn 10 over Alabama, Notre Dame 11 over Southern California, TCU 7 over SMU, Florida 21 over Miami, Air Force Academy 16 over Colorado, Clemson 34 over Furman, Georgia 8 over Georgia Tech, Mississippi 12 over Mississippi State, Rice 9 over Baylor, Houston 3 over Texas Tech and Vanderbilt 6 over Tennessee.

BOSOX DROP LEX IN NSL

Lexington, Neb. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox notified the Nebraska State League Wednesday they will not operate a club in the Class D loop next year.

"We had a team in Lexington the past 3 seasons and have had a wonderful relationship with the community during the period," farm director John Murphy said. "However, we have decided not to have a team in the State League in 1959."

Ernie Quitmeyer, executive secretary of the league, said every effort will be made to obtain a major league backer for Lexington. He added that Boston had considered the possibility of pulling out last year. The decision of Boston leaves 7 major-league sponsored teams in the loop.

The Nebraska State League, organized 3 years ago, was a new innovation in baseball, devoting itself to the training of untried rookies. The players have been fresh from high school or college.

The tarpaulin used to cover the University of California football field weighs 900 pounds.

Huskers' Foe Coached By Ex-Nebraskan

Indianola and Schuyler basketball fans will find a hometown flavor Monday night as the Nebraska basketball team opens its season against Northwest Missouri State College at the NU Coliseum.

The reason—Northwest is coached by Marion Moss, former prep mentor at Indianola and Schuyler. He spent two years as basketball coach at both schools.

Moss served as an assistant at Oklahoma State under Hank Iba before taking the Northwest Missouri post this fall.

Tipoff time Monday will be 8:05 p.m. The Huskers will be heavily favored to win the non-conference scrap. Nebraska warmed up for the opener by trimming a tall freshman crew 73-46 last week.

The Nebraska cagers—out to start the season off on a winning note—waived their Thanksgiving vacation to work out during the school holiday.

Sapp, McKay Join NU Cage Squad

Two players, Guy Sapp and Jerry McKay, have been added to the basketball varsity at the University of Nebraska, Coach Jerry Bush announced.

Sapp just completed his duties as an end with the football team and McKay is a shortstop with Tony Sharpe's baseballers.

Both Sapp and McKay are 6-2. Guy lettered twice in basketball at Lincoln high and McKay won two letters in the cage sport competing for Teachers High (now University High School.)

Dick Becher of Hastings dropped from the squad and Mel Harmon of Hebron has withdrawn from school.

Bush Is Speaker

Hebron—Jerry Bush, University of Nebraska basketball coach, was the main speaker at a luncheon here honoring the 1958 Hebron football team. The fete was sponsored by the Hebron Rotary Club.

Upset To Stitch

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — Newcomer Rudell Stitch scored an upset 10-round decision over Yama Bahama at the Fairgrounds Wednesday night.

Stitch, swinging wildly but rocking Bahama when he connected, won his 16th victory before a national television audience (ABC). The Louisville welterweight has lost 4 in his brief career.

Marquette Grid Pilot To Resign

Milwaukee (AP) — Johnny Druze submitted his resignation Wednesday as football coach of Marquette University, effective Feb. 15.

His current 3-year contract expires on that date.

During his 3 years, Marquette won 2, lost 25 and tied one.

Druze's assistant coaches were caught by surprise.

"It came as a shock to us," said Backfield Coach Johnny Mazur. "The first we heard about it was this morning when he told us."

Druze's statement said:

"In behalf of my family and for what is considered the best interests of Marquette, I hereby submit my resignation to be effective at the termination of my contract."

It took Druze's teams two full seasons to win their first game. The victory—after 20 straight losses, 19 of them under Druze—came on the first game of this season against South Dakota State. The score was 18-6.

Marquette then upset College of the Pacific 27-18 and tied Detroit 13-13.

Druze came to Marquette in 1956 after serving as an assistant and scout under Notre Dame Coaches Frank Leahy and Terry Brennan.

CARDS SIGN MU FULLBACK

St. Louis (AP) — Hank Kuhlmann, University of Missouri's star fullback, was signed by the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday to a bonus contract which may have given him as much as $30,000.

The football senior, one of the Big Eight's outstanding backs, will play with the Cardinals' farm club at Rochester in the International League.

The 21-year-old Kuhlmann was a catcher with the University of Missouri.

The Cardinal front office, following its custom, did not announce the amount of the bonus. It did say it was "substantial" and good baseball sources indicated it was around $30,000.

Kuhlmann asked to be assigned to the Rochester club because a former teammate on the football team, halfback Charley James, is now with that team.

Long Match, Buchholz Win Net Features

Sydney, Australia (AP)—A dramatic, unfinished marathon doubles match involving Ham Richardson and Alex Olmedo of the U.S. Davis Cup team and a brilliant singles victory by Earl Buchholz of St. Louis featured Wednesday's play in the New South Wales tennis championships.

Richardson and the Peruvian-born Olmedo, the likely American Davis Cup doubles pair, trailed Australia's Ashley Cooper and Rod Laver, 6-3, 8-10, 9-11, 16-14, 4-5 with Olmedo's serve coming up when the semifinal was called because of darkness after 3½ hours. The match will be completed today.

The victors will meet the top-ranking Aussie tandem of Mal Anderson and Neale Fraser for the title. The Anderson-Fraser team eliminated Bob Howe and Don Candy of Australia, 6-1, 9-11, 8-6, 6-4.

Buchholz, the 18-year old sensation of the championships at White City Stadium, is trying for a junior-championship flight double. He already has reached the semifinals of the main tournament.

Wednesday he raced into the junior semifinals by soundly trouncing Australian Bob Pearson, 6-0, 6-1. On Friday he will meet Martin Mulligan, the Aussie junior titleholder. Mulligan disposed of countryman Frank Gorman, 12-10, 0-6, 6-2.

More important to the St. Louis marvel is his championship semifinal today against Roy Emerson. The 22-year-old Aussie is playing the best tennis right now of all the home products and is battling for a Davis Cup berth.

5,792 Hunters Got Their Deer

Final and corrected deer-kill figures have boosted the success score of Nebraska hunters during the Nov. 1-5 rifle season to 60.4 per cent, compared with a national average of 33 per cent.

Complete checking-station totals show that 5,792 hunters killed deer during the 5-day season. The Game Commission reported that 9,580 licenses had been issued.

The No. 1 area in number of deer killed was the Pine Ridge, despite the fear of some local residents that the planned big reduction of the deer herd in 1957 had gone too far. Actually, the success ratio for 1958 in the Pine Ridge was comparable to that enjoyed last year.

Crawford led all checking stations in number of deer processed with 901. Gering was next with 473, Chadron had 461, and Rushville was 4th with 362.

Following are the different checking stations, by area, with the number of deer reported at each:

Pine Ridge—Crawford, 901; Chadron, 461; Rushville, 362; Harrison, 316.
Plains—Hemingford, 117; Alliance, 64.
Upper Platte—Oshkosh, 121; Chappell, 44; Bridgeport, 230; Kimball, 153; Gering, 473; Sidney, 122.
Southern Sand Hills—Hyannis, 38; Tryon, 43; Mullen, 84; Stapleton, 53; Halsey, 127.
Northern Sand Hills—Ainsworth, 210; Springview, 122; Cody, 191; Valentine, 335; Bassett, 201.
Central—Ord, 69; Broken Bow, 142; Loup City, 13; Burwell, 153.
Upper Missouri—Center, 58; Neligh, 29; Butte, 61; O'Neill, 66.
Southwest—North Platte, 181; Ogallala, 111; Hayes Center, 46; Benkelman, 36; Trenton, 27; Imperial, 32.

Legal shooting hours—one-half hour before sunrise to sunset for all game regulated by the Nebraska Game Commission.

Sunrise and sunset hours are given for Lincoln and any point in Nebraska due north or due south of Lincoln. Prayer And Frivolity Mark Holiday Observance

By the Associated Press

Americans in all the 48 states and in outlying possessions from Guam to the Virgin Islands celebrate another peacetime Thanksgiving Thursday. The observance runs the gamut from solemn prayer to joyful frivolity.

Leading the nation in feasting and rejoicing are President Eisenhower and his family. They are vacationing in Augusta, Ga., and like many another traveling American are far from home.

However, holiday air travel for many was snarled this Thanksgiving by a strike on 2 of the nation's major airlines—Eastern and Trans World. Thousands of passengers with holiday bookings were stranded completely, or forced to scramble for alternate transportation.

Problem Solved

A bus strike in Lowell, Mass., posed the problem of how to get the high school football team to and from Lawrence, Mass., for a traditional Thanksgiving Day game. Funeral directors solved things by donating 7 funeral limousines for the trip.

From coast to coast, other thousands planned to attend high school, college and professional football games.

At Plymouth, Mass., descendents of the Pilgrims are holding church services to mark the holiday originated by their ancestors more than 300 years ago. Later, a pageant was planned.

Gay parades were arranged for children along the streets of Detroit and down Manhattan's Great White Way. They are traditional on the holiday in both cities.

Food baskets were distributed to the needy. And in New York, the derelicts who inhabit the bowery get free turkey dinners.

A special turkey dinner was prepared also for Burton Brier, who works as a hired hand on a farm near Johnson Creek, N.Y. Wednesday was his 104th birthday and its celebration was postponed 24 hours for Thanksgiving.

At Long Beach Memorial Hospital on Long Island, patients were to be served turkey dinners by hospital personnel dressed in traditional Pilgrim attire.

Pittsburgh planned to mark the holiday with a bagpipers parade, a band concert and cannon fire to signal the opening of the city's 14-month bicentennial celebration.

In more serious vein, San Diego was holding nonsectarian Thanksgiving services in a city park. Elsewhere, from Fifth Avenue's great cathedrals to the smallest of rural churches Americans of many faiths gathered to give thanks to their God for the blessings of another year gone by.

And even amid despairing circumstances, there was a cause for thanks as reflected in a holiday editorial in a magazines put out by prisoners of Howard, R.I., correctional institutions. It reads in part:

"What have we to be thankful for? After all, we are in jail . . . We don't have freedom of movement and that's important. But we do enjoy more freedom than do many subjugated people who literally don't know the meaning of the word.

"So we can start by being thankful that we are Americans."

Youth Project Urges Lake Be Preserved

The Lincoln Youth Project has urged that "every effort be made to preserve Oak Creek Park" in connection with access route plans for the Interstate Highway.

Dr. C. Vin White, president of the organization, said in a letter to the Council:

"As a result of intensive study of park and recreation situation in Lincoln by the Lincoln Youth Project, we are convinced that nothing should be done which might detract from the usefulness of this attractive park."

Similar positions have been stated by the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce and League of Women Voters.

The City Park Board has also requested that the advisory group be included on any planning that might involve the park area.

Kearney Airport Gets $10,000 Federal Funds

The Nebraska Aeronautics Commission has awarded Kearney $10,000 in federal funds for taxiway construction, State Aeronautics Director Rolland Harr said.

Harr said the money would be used to construct a taxiway connecting an apron and runway at Kearney's Municipal Airport.

Bellevue Sewage Work Gets Go-Ahead

The order to halt construction of sewer system extensions at Bellevue was lifted Wednesday by the State Health Department.

State Health Director E. A. Rogers rescinded the order following a conference with B. L. Heber, director of public works for Bellevue; and T. M. Felton, ex-city councilman.

Dr. Rogers said the city has done everything reasonably possible to clear up its sewage disposal problem and has planned for construction of a new $140,000 treatment plant in the spring of 1960.

Bellevue has applied for $41,000 in federal aid for the construction project and will put up a bond issue proposal in the spring of 1960.

The city also hopes to have $62,000 in cash within the near future and has doubled its sewer use fee, Dr. Rogers said.

Participating in the conference was T. A. Filipi, state sanitation director.

Bellevue was one of 6 cities on the Missouri River ordered by the department to halt sewage extension construction until proper disposal plants had been built.

Space Agency Plans Satellite Try Around Venus

Washington (UPI) — The nation's new civilian space agency plans 8 to 12 rocket launchings next year, including an attempt to place a satellite in orbit around the planet Venus, a spokesman said.

He also said the agency, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), planned to put a weather satellite in orbit over the North and South Poles.

Other 1959 launchings by NASA were expected to include 3 or 4 Vanguard earth satellite rockets, the first of which has been set for February.

The possibility of sending an instrumented robot on the 50-million-mile, 151-day trip to Venus was receiving top attention.

The agency said previously that Venus, nearest planet to the earth, would be in a favorable position for a launching in mid-1959. The Air Force's Thor-Able moon rocket has the power to make the trip.

Score Or More

The Air Force, meanwhile, was planning to send up several experimental military reconnaissance satellites that could bring the total U.S. space launchings next year to a score or more.

The Air Force launchings will be from its Vandenberg base on the West Coast. "Aviation Week" magazine predicted Sunday that the first would take place Dec. 15. The Air Force had no comment on this.

The NASA spokesman said the agency was "very conscious" of the advantage of placing a weather satellite in a north-south orbit. With the earth turning evenly beneath it, a polar satellite could observe every spot on the globe once every 24 hours.

Such a satellite, if successful, could revolutionize weather forecasting. Meteorologists would be provided with a daily picture of the earth's cloud cover. In addition, the satellite could spot tornadoes and other disturbances.

West Coast

A polar satellite could not be launched from Cape Canaveral without passing over populated areas. It could, however, be done from the West Coast.

No more Army Explorer satellites were planned. But the Army may get the job of putting up an inflatable satellite balloon 100 feet in diameter that could easily be seen with the naked eye. An attempt to launch a 12-foot balloon satellite failed Oct. 22.

The Army already is scheduled for two lunar probe firings, one in December and one in 1959. This program may be expanded.

Kimball Hospital Bid Acceptance Set For Dec. 3

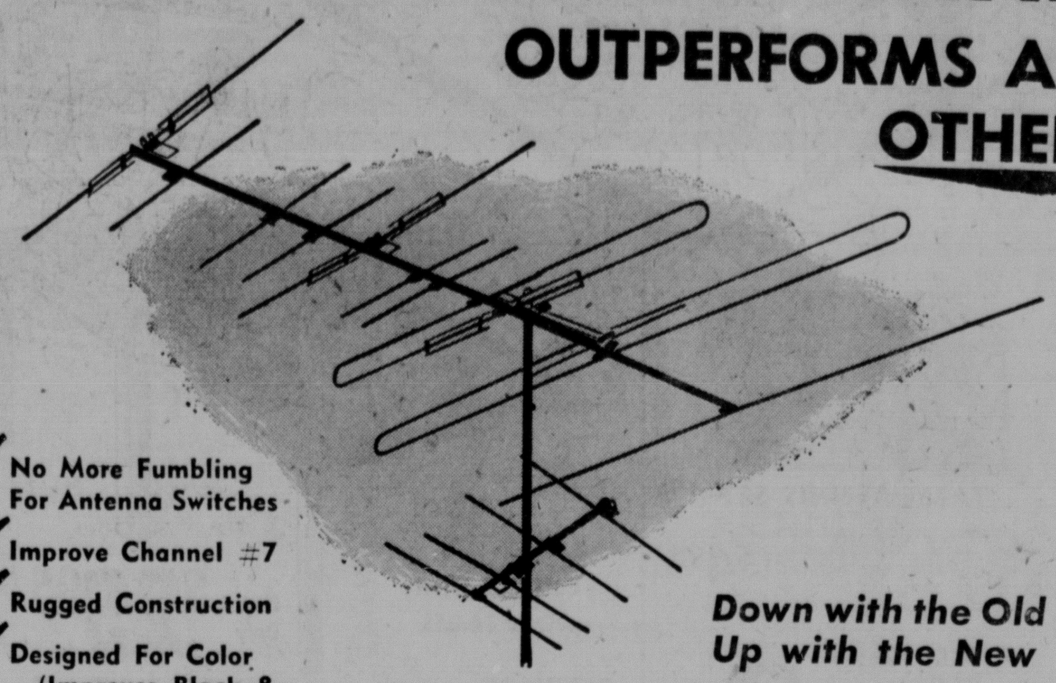

Bids will be accepted Dec. 3 in the courthouse at Kimball for an addition to Kimball County Hospital, according to Verne Pangborn, state hospital director.

The addition, estimated to cost around $170,000, will include facilities for surgery, x-ray, laboratories, patients, a kitchen and a solarium.

Pangborn also said bids would be accepted in the last week of January or the first week of February for the long-term patient care addition to the Sidney Hospital.

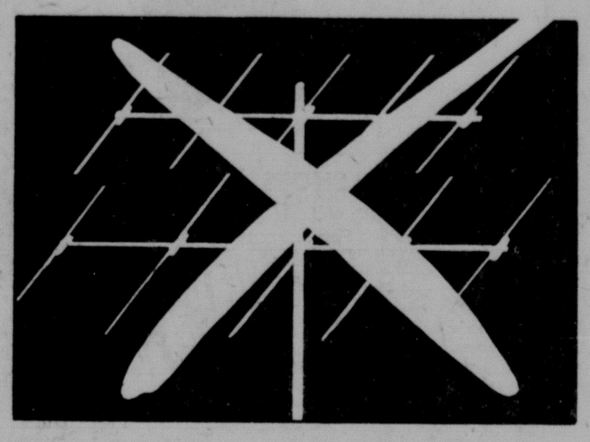

A bid letting on the estimated $275,000 project was recently held, but the two bids received were turned down.

'Radical' Cry Raised By Nixon

Washington (AP) — A 650-word private telegram went from Vice President Nixon to all Republican candidates for Congress 2 weeks before the November election, urging them to press the "radical" cry against the Democrats.

The text of the message was released Wednesday by Nixon's office, after accounts of its content and distribution had appeared in print in the New York Post and the Washington Evening Star. Nixon is on an official visit to Great Britain.

The wire went out at a time Nixon was preparing for the final stretch of the campaign.

Nixon in effect was suggesting to GOP candidates that they sail into the Democrats along the same campaign line he was following. His own speeches had declared that the dominant wing of the Democratic Party was controlled by Northern and Western radicals.

It Went to 350

Also, the Oct. 19 pep talk message to more than 350 GOP candidates repeated what Nixon hammered on from his own platforms — a contention that there had been a sharp swing to the Republicans. It repeated the Republicans could win big if they would get in there and fight, adding: "From now on . . . all Republican candidates and spokesmen should radiate optimism and should be on the offensive."

The telegram was the message that Harold E. Stassen, a frequent Republican critic of Nixon, has called "a secret telegram" urging Republican candidates to attack Democrats as Socialists.

Stassen contends this move was a factor in the smashing defeat handed the Republicans across the country Nov. 4.

On economics, Nixon proposed in the telegram that the Republicans picture the Democrats as offering nothing but "a return to the radical policies that failed to produce prosperity except in war or as a result of war."

Institutions' Per Diem Charge Upped

The Board of Control has increased the per diem charge for patients in the state mental hospitals and the Beatrice State Home effective Dec. 1.

The board made the increase after considering the average cost per day for each patient in the institutions during August, September and October of this year and in accordance with the recommendation of Jack M. Cleavenger, chief accountant for the board.

The rates will go from $4.35 to $4.50 at the state hospitals and from $1.85 to $2.15 at the State Home.

Absolute

Paris (UPI) — Premier de Gaulle appeared headed toward absolute control of Parliament in France's new 5th republic.

Barring upsets in the nationwide run-off balloting Sunday, de Gaulle seemed likely to become the first French constitutional leader in nearly 80 years to enjoy such a majority.

Anti-Weather Control Organization Files Suit

. . . Unconstitutional Ruling For Act Sought

Scottsbluff, Neb. (AP)—The anti-North Platte Valley weather control district group filed a suit in District Court asking that the legislative act setting up the district be declared unconstitutional.

Lorin Summervile filed the suit on behalf of the anit-district group which formally organized about two weeks ago.

The suit alleges the title of the enabling act is not clear, that the law is an attempt to take property without due process of law, is an attempt to take property without just compensation and delegates to private individuals legislative authority in violation of the constitution.

The law permits a one mill levy on all property in the district, composed of all of Scotts Bluff County and parts of Morrill, Banner and Sioux Counties and the suit asks that the Scotts Bluff County treasurer be restrained from collecting the levy.

Also on file in District Court is a suit asking that the court order a new election on whether the district should be dissolved. It was formed by a special election last spring following enactment by the last legislature of the enabling law.

Wool Clinic, Ewe Sale Planned At Ag Campus

. . . Processing Procedure Will Be Shown

A wool clinic, to be held in conjunction with the sale of 6 different breeds of registered ewes, will be held here Saturday, Dec. 13.

M. A. Alexander, professor of animal husbandry at the University of Nebraska, reported the double-barreled event will be held on the College of Agriculture campus.

The clinic will be held from 10-11:30 a.m., in the animal husbandry building. Actual processing of wool, as is done in Kansas City, Mo., by the Midwest Wool Marketing Cooperative, will be done at the clinic.

Self-Help Program

Through the Cooperative, the sheep producer's own organization, wool is graded prior to being offered for sale, increasing the net income to the farmer. Beginning in 1929, farmers have gradually developed a self-help program in marketing wool which is now being encouraged at the national level for other phases of apgriculture, Alexander pointed out.

The wool clinic will include demonstrations of fleeces which are of inferior quality for various reasons. These reasons will be pointed out, and the proper treatment to correct such defects will be explained.

The auction sale of over 100 registered ewes bred to almb in 1959, will be held in the Horse Barn pavilion on the agricultural college campus, beginning at 1 p.m.

Falls City, Neb. (AP) — Leonard Buias has been sentenced to 5 days in jail for beating his two-year-old stepdaughter, Melinda Jane Ray, with a heavy leather belt.

"I got mad," Buias told County Judge Albert Maust. He said that he had ordered the child to pick something off the floor and that she had refused. He pleaded guilty to beating Melinda Jane with the belt until she was black and blue.

Social workers and authorities saw the welts on the little girl the day after the whipping. The complaint was signed by Buias' wife.

Services Friday For Jim Webb, Auctioneer

Grand Island, Neb. (AP) — Funeral services will be held in the First Presbyterian Church at 2 p.m. Friday for David J. (Jim) Webb, who died of a heart ailment at the age of 70.

Mr. Webb was known principally as founder of the Webb Livestock Commission Co., which he headed until his retirement in 1946.

Find Seward Man Dead In Farm Truck

Seward, Neb. — Funeral services for Marvin Rathje, 33-year-old Seward farmer, will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at St. John's Lutheran Church at Seward.

He died in his truck, apparently of carbon monoxide poisoning, Seward County Sheriff Ray Welch reported.

The sheriff said the truck overturned, but there were no marks on Rathje to indicate a severe injury and it was his opinion the driver became unconscious, lost control of his truck and was dead before it left the highway on a county road two miles southwest of Seward.

Left For Sale

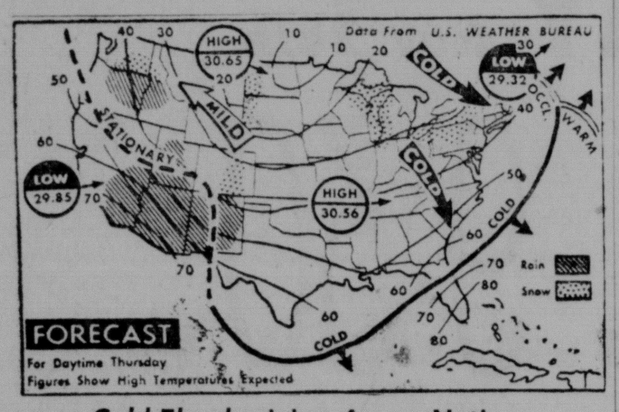

Welch said Rathje's widow told him the farmer had left for a sale in the area, but she didn't know just where the sale was held. He had intended to bring home a load of corn, but the truck was empty when it overturned.

The sheriff said the truck knocked down a mailbox and traveled about one and one half miles farther west before it overturned. A farmer saw the truck weaving back and forth across the road, he said.

Surviving are his wife, Dolores; 3 small sons; his mother, Mrs. Henrietta Rathje of York; 5 brothers and 3 sisters.

Burial will be in Vernon Cemetery, near York.

God's Provision For Needs Said Basis Of Thanksgiving

"God's provision for our needs is the basis for our Thanksgiving," the Rev. Frederick Roblee told a United Thanksgiving service gathering at the Havelock Methodist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Roblee, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian, speaking on the topic "Hosts and Guests," said "Our attitude toward the great Host is important. Thanksgiving without God is as meaningless as Christmas without Christ."

The Rev. Mr. Roblee noted that, "At God's table there are no preferred guests."

What Does It Say

His sermon also raised the question, "What is America's Thanksgiving saying to the world this year?"

"Is it saying we are merely reveling in our great material prosperity? Is it saying that in our own eyes, our wealth is both the reward and proof of our virtue?"

"Or, is it saying to the world that we are a humble and penitent people before almighty God, in our deep concerns for the needs of others."

The Rev. Mr. Roblee closed his sermon, saying, "Sharing our surplus is important, but how and why is just as important, are we guided by Christian love."

"You Can See It If You're Thankful" was the topic of the sermon delivered at East Lincoln Christian Church services by the Rev. Charles Wilson, pastor of the First Christian church.

Thankful Eyes Needed

"Nothing is a blessing unless you look at it with thankful eyes," the Rev. Mr. Wilson said.

"A man's religion is a great deal like a pair of binoculars —when you look through them properly the whole world looks bigger. When you turn them around and look through the small end, everything becomes smaller, or distant."

He noted that, the thankful heart is the one thing that can give everything you see, life and color and reality.

"Our forefathers faced a year when only half of their band had survived, only one of their 3 crops was harvested, but they were thankful and life was a blessing," the Rev. Wilson, said.

"Today, we have our barns filled, our houses filled, our stomachs filled and we become bored, overweight and need a tranquilizor."

Christmas Scene At City Hall

The spirit of approaching Christmas is reflected in this nativity scene on the lawn southeast of City Hall. The life-size figures, which are lighted at night, were erected by members of the Men's Club of St. Paul Methodist Church with the approval of city officials. The scene, which was also erected last year, was an anonymous gift to St. Paul Methodist Church and the St. Pauls Men's Club. (Star Photo)

125 Families To Be Considered For Holiday Aid

Lincoln's Holiday Bureau has received the names of 125 needy families to be considered for Thanksgiving and Christmas gifts.

According to Mrs. Urania Wedgwood, secretary of the organization, the names were submitted to the Community Chest co-ordinating group by 50 representatives of civic clubs, church groups, social clubs and welfare organizations.

The Holiday Bureau maintains a central file for the several organizations which is designed to help avoid an overabundance of gifts being sent to one needy family while another family receives nothing.

Last year the Bureau distributed gifts to more than 500 Lincoln families.

Teletype Boost Gets Formal O.K.

Washington (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission formally approved Wednesday a temporary increase in rates for private line teletypewriter service. FCC said American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and Western Union have shown a need for it.

Best Advance In Year Ends Stock Decline

New York (AP)—The stock market made its greatest advance in a year Wednesday, bouncing back like a rubber ball from 3 jolting setbacks.

Like a rubber ball, however, it did not rebound to the height from which it was dropped. The advance recouped an estimated $3,700,000,000 of the approximate 11 billion dollars lost in quoted values in the prior 3 days, based on the movement of the Associated Press average.

Blue chip issues rose as much as 3 points and more. Some secondary stocks made bigger gains.

Brokers called the recovery technical and said it was greatly aided by a large assortment of rosy corporate reports such as higher dividends and stock splits. Many prices were knocked down from record highs, brokers said, and Wednesday looked like a good chance to buy at more moderate prices in anticipation of the hoped-for upward move over the long run.

The advance swept most sections of the list except for a scattering of well-known stocks which fell because of poor news or some technical market reason. Al 15 most active issues rose.

The rise was the biggest one-day advance since Nov. 27, 1957 when the AP 60-stock average jumped $3.90 in relief that President Eisenhower was making good progress from his cerebral ailment.

The AP 60-stock average rose $2.90 to $201.90 with the industrials up $4, the rails up $8.60 and the utilities up 60 cents.

Volume was 4,090,000 shares compared with 3,940,000 Tuesday.

American Stock Exchange prices rose in active dealings. Volume was 1,770,000 shares compared with 1,440,000 Tuesday.

U.S. government bonds declined in light turnover with losses reaching 20-32. Corporates closed higher after a mixed performance.

Corporate trading was in pre-holiday doldrums, declining to $5,860,000 par value on the big board from $6,440,000 Tuesday.

FAIRLY BROAD DECLINE HITS GRAIN MARKET

Chicago (AP)—Another fairly broad general decline hit grain futures prices Wednesday on the board of trade but some scattered buying support appeared to be developing at the extreme setbacks.

Wheat was under the strongest pressure as it had been all week and all contracts were off major fractions to as much as 1¾ cents. The bullish feeling which attracted a good demand for corn Tuesday was nowhere in evidence. A good deal of the selling was believed to be profit-taking over the Thanksgiving holiday.

One contract in the list, however, was viewed by the trade as a bargain. It was September soybeans which was bid up 1½ cents a bushel while the others were losing a half cent.

Except for an occasional temporary influence the market has been generally bearish for several weeks. Even though there has been some complaint that producer selling of crops has been slow, supplies in commercial positions are described as adequate to meet any foreseeable domestic and export requirements.

Both domestic and export demand has been slow and most processors, particularly of soybeans, are understood to have more than normal supplies on hand.

The referendum Tuesday in which corn growers voted to abolish all acreage controls on the crop had no effect on the market. Brokers reminded that corn producers virtually ignored the controls this year since only about 15 per cent of the crop was planted within allotments.

Wheat closed ½-1¾ cents a bushel lower, December $1.94¼-⅜; corn ¼-⅜ lower, December old-type contract $1.12⅞; oats ¾ lower to ¼ higher, December .64⅜-¼; rye ⅝-1 cent lower, December $1.30½; soybeans ½ lower to 1½ cents higher, January $2.14¾-⅞.

Extra Benefit Offered For Conservation

Additional benefits to farmers who have entered the 1959 conservation reserve program are being offered by the Nebraska Game Commission.

Farmers can plant free nursery stock — trees and shrubs—for wildlife cover on conservation reserve acreage and still draw federal cost sharing payments on the development, reports Clarence Newton, land management project leader.

The Game Commission offers trees and shrubs as well as protective fencing material at no charge to the landowner, and will assist in drawing up plans for use of these materials. When the developments are made on the 1959 reserve land, the landowner may still draw up to 80% cost share payment through the soil-bank program, although he has made no investment on the materials.

Application may be made directly to the Game Comcission, local offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, or the Soil Conservation Service.
